7 of Capt Samuel Delano Jr.

Benjamin Franklin Delano, d Chelsea Mass. Nov 11-1892.

His trade of shipwright he learned of Augustus Sampson, who is still living at the age of eighty-six. He worked for many years in Medford as foreman and master builder, constructing some of the finest ships. Afterwards for nearly forty years he carried on the business of repairing vessels at the North End, his place of business for all that period being at the head of Lincoln's Wharf, Boston. Mr. Delano was well known and always had a kind word for all. He was an affable gentleman.
