

The decease of the honored soldier and statesman on Tuesday morning, February 16, 1827, in the ninety-third year of his age, permitted the Reverend Cornelius D. Westbrook, D.D., to define in an eloquent manner his exemplary character in a funeral discourse, preached in the Reformed Dutch Church, in the village of Fishkill, and based on the text: "The hoary head is a crown of glory, if it be found in the way of righteousness." Proverbs xvi. 31.
