

MRS. ISAAC N. PHELPS.

inary, and is a member of the Emma Willard Association. She is also a member of the Society of Colonial Dames of the state of New York, and of the Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution. As tributes to the memory of her first husband and her mother, she furnished and endowed two rooms in the Samaritan Hospital, on the east side of Eighth Street, between Hoosick and Hutton streets, Troy, at the opening of the institution in the fall of 1898.

Her sister, Mrs. Walter Jerome Green, lives in the city of Utica, New York. Her residence, No. 1 Rutger Park, occupies a spacious site on the elevated terrace at the head of John Street, and commands a wide prospect of the at-
