Miami County is one of the wealthiest and best counties in the State of Ohio. It is thickly settled with an intelligent, reading people, fully up to the age, and is making grand strides forward in the great march of Progress. Until recently its people have been almost entirely engrossed in Agricultural pursuits, but within a short time manufactures have been taking the front rank in the attention of the people, and great activity is being displayed in that direction. Utilizing the magnificent water-power within her limits, with everything necessary to manufacturing enterprise within easy reach, Miami county bids fair soon to deserve the title of the great MANUFACTURING CENTRE OF OHIO. Already many large establishments are in active operation, and many more are projecting and maturing.

Piqua, situated at the junction of the Pittsburg, St. Louis and Chicago, and Dayton and Michigan Railroads, and the Miami and Erie Canal, is a flourishing city of ten thousand (10,000) inhabitants. It has received a new and strong impetus from the building of a hydraulic canal, (which is now in progress) which will furnish a water-power equal to 90 ran of stone. Under the fostering influence of this enterprise it is not improbable that in ten years Piqua will have more than doubled her population.

Troy, the county seat of Miami county, is a thriving town of five thousand inhabitants, situated eight miles south of Piqua on the D. and M. Railroad, and the M. and E. Canal. It is also pushing rapidly forward a hydraulic canal, similar to that building at Piqua, which will doubtless result in the greatest benefit to it.

Tippecanoe, seven miles south of Troy, in Miami county, is a wide-awake town of fifteen hundred inhabitants. Large whiskey and alcohol establishments are located there, besides numerous other manufacturing establishments. It has also a fine water-power.

Covington, in Miami county, is a driving, go-ahead place of about the same population as Tippecanoe. Situated on the P., St. L. and C. Railroad and the Stillwater River, economizing the splendid water-power from the Stillwater Falls, and being the centre of a magnificent grain-growing district, it bids fair to be at a future day a place of no mean importance.

In addition to these, the more prominent towns, Miami county has several other villages of smaller size, but all thriving and improving.

In each and every one of these towns the MIAMI VALLEY NEWS has a circulation second to that of no other paper, whether published in or out of Miami county.

Persons advertising in the News will have the advantages of—1st. The largest circulation in the county. 2d. A circulation all over the county, and not confined to any particular section; and 3d. they will pay no more for advertising in the News than they would in any other paper published in the county, and will secure by this means double the advertising for the same amount of money expended.
