

- (1) William Randolph, born about 1736; died young.
  - (2) Peyton Randolph, born about 1738; married, about 1763, Lucy Harrison, his cousin, and had Betty, Kidder, and Peyton.
  - (3) Anne Randolph, born about 1740; married, about 1760, Benjamin Harrison, of Brandon, on James River, Prince George County, Virginia, and died without issue.
  - (4) Elizabeth Randolph, born about 1742; married, about 1762, Philip Grymes, of Middlesex County, Virginia; probably the brother of Lucy Grymes, who married Gov. Thomas Nelson, of Yorktown, Virginia.
  - (5) Lucy Randolph, born about 1744; married, about 1764, Lewis Burwell, of Kings Mill (Kingsmel), York County (?), Virginia. He was probably the brother of Elizabeth (called "Betty") Burwell, wife of John Page, of Caroline County, Virginia. (See North End.)
4. Daughter Randolph, born about 1718; married Price.
  5. Elizabeth Randolph, born about 1725; married, about 1745, Col. Chiswell. Their daughter, Lucy Chiswell, married, 24th Nov., 1770, Col. William Nelson, of The Dorrill, Hanover County, Virginia. (See Secretary Nelson.)

II. THOMAS RANDOLPH, of Tuckahoe, on James River, Goochland County, Virginia, second son and child of William Randolph, of Yorkshire, England, and Turkey Island, Henrico County, Virginia, progenitor of the Randolph Family in Virginia, and Mary Isham, his wife, was born at Turkey Island, Henrico County, Virginia, about 1683. He married, about 1710, Judith Churchill, of Middlesex County, Virginia. There appears to be some uncertainty as to who was the wife of Thomas Randolph, of Tuckahoe. According to Rev. P. Slaughter, in his History of Bristol Parish, p. 214, she was a Miss Fleming. This corresponds with the statement made in Browning's Americans of Royal Descent, p. 298. On the other hand, Mrs. Ellen Wayles Randolph Harrison, of Edge Hill, Albemarle County, Virginia, states that her name was Judith Churchill, and that no marriage between Randolph and Fleming took place until a later period. Mrs. Harrison suggested, however, that I should apply for correct information on this point to Wilson M. Cary, of Baltimore, Maryland. In reply to a letter from me on the subject, Mr. Cary wrote, under date of 8th March, 1883, as follows:
