

of the Hon. Jonathan Cilley killed in the famous duel with Graves, of Kentucky.

Colonel and Mrs. Teetor have three children: Josephine Cilley, Helen Dudley, and Howard Lee.

Rhoda Dudley (who died Oct. 27, 1846), is still remembered as a woman of gentle manners, rare mental gifts, and a constant reader, whose personal appearance indicated an elevated character. Her features were striking, even patrician. Traces of these characteristics may be seen in her descendants, notably in her granddaughter, Helen Dudley Teetor, now the wife of Calc Durbin Schmidlap, Esq., a prominent and highly esteemed young business man of Denver, Colorado.

Upon his departure from Cincinnati, in 1888, to his new home in Denver, the Cincinnati Criterion complimented Colonel Teetor by saying: "He is well known throughout Ohio as an able lawyer, critical scholar, and a graceful writer."
