Dr. Young became a physician; but, after several years' successful practice, he was appointed consul to a South American port, which position he held for many years. Dr. Young's father was Aaron Young of Bangor, Maine, born at Pittston, Maine, May 12, 1783, d. at Bangor, April 19, 1875, aged 92. This Aaron Young senior was son of David Young of Pittston, Maine, b. at Kingston, N. H., May, 1753, d. at Pittston, Feb. 14, 1825; married Elizabeth Clark in 1779. His father was Aaron Young of Kingston, N. H., b. Oct. 27, 1714, d. at Kingston, April 1, 1789: m. Abigail Dudley, about 1738, b. Oct. 31, 1716, at Exeter, N. H., dau. of James Dudley, son of Stephen, son of Rev. Samuel, son of Gov. Thomas Dudley, and d. Nov. 18, 1802, at Boston, Mass. Aaron Young of Kingston, N. H., is said to have been descended from John¹ Young of Plymouth, Mass., who was married Dec. 13, 1648, to a lady named "Abigail," and d. Jan. 29, 1691. She d. April 7, 1692. They had:

- i. JOHN², b. at Plymouth, Nov. 16, 1649.
- ii. JOSEPH, b. at Plymouth, Nov. 12, 1651, d. Feb., 1652.
- iii. JOSEPH, b. at Plymouth, Dec., 1654.
- iv. NATHANIEL, b. at Plymouth, April, 1656.
- v. MARY, b. at Plymouth, April 28, 1658.
