429 SARAH, b. in Windsor, Feb. 19, 1833; died April, 1839.

John<sup>184</sup> was a ship carpenter, and wrought at "Master Hayden's" ship yard at Haydens. [Master John Hayden was a Pettepogue (Essex) Hayden, who came up soon after the Revolutionary war and built the "old red house" at Haydens. He carried on ship building until about 1800, when he returned with his family to Essex.] I can remember the return of John<sup>184</sup> after having spent the summer at some ship-yard down the river. He continued to have his home with his mother's family at the old homestead, and after about 1830 devoted his time with his brother to farming. After his marriage (when 51 years old), he went to the home of his wife on Pigeon Hill, Windsor, and conducted the Palmer farm until he reached a good old age.
