| AK-64-1 | Ben Creek Cabin with mining tools against the wall including picks, shovels, gold pans, and buckets. |
| AK-64-2 | Rokon "Trailbreaker" 2-wheel drive motorcycle located next to the cabin. |
| AK-64-3 | Gasoline powered circular saw presumed to be used for cutting fuel wood and for mine cribbing. Note the log cabin in the background. |
| AK-64-4 | Detail of the saw and cabin. |
| AK-64-5 | Detail of the saw (viewed from the side closest to the cabin) with the metal tub removed (presumed to be a dust screen and/or cover for the engine). |
| AK-64-6 | Treadle-powered sharpening stone. |
| AK-64-7 | Doghouse boiler located behind the storage shed showing the "back" side of the unit with the cabin in the background. |
| AK-64-9 | Doghouse boiler located behind the storage shed showing the "back" side of the unit with the cabin in the background. Small tree trunks have been placed in the brackets to show how the boiler would have been hand-carried around the site. |
| AK-64-10 | Doghouse boiler viewed from the firebox side with the storage shed in the background. |
| AK-64-11 | Doghouse boiler viewed from the firebox side with the storage shed in the background. Detail of the boiler's valves and stack. |
