Rotogravure
Picture Section,
In Two Parts: Part 5

The New York Times

Sunday,
December 9, 1917

AMERICAN MEMBERS OF THE ALLIES' WAR CONFERENCE IN PARIS WEARING LIFE BELTS WHILE PASSING THROUGH THE GERMAN "BARRED" ZONE.

In the Front Row, Left to Right, Are: General Bliss, Chief of Staff, U. S. A.; Col. E. M. House, Chairman, Admiral W. S. Benson and Vance McCormick.
(© International Film Service.)

DAVID R. FRANCIS,
American Ambassador in Petrograd, Viewing One of the Numerous Funeral Processions of Revolutionary Origin Passing Through the Streets of the Russian Capital.
(Donald Thompson, From Central News.)

COL. HOUSE AND THE ENTIRE AMERICAN MEMBERSHIP OF THE ALLIES' CONFERENCE IN PARIS CALL ON UNITED STATES AMBASSADOR WALTER HINES PAGE IN LONDON.

In the Front Row, Left to Right, Are: General Bliss, Ambassador Page, Colonel House, Admiral Benson, and Vice Admiral William S. Sims. Others in the Group Are: Vance McCormick, Bainbridge Colby, Dr. Alonzo E. Taylor, Thomas Nelson Perkins, and Gordon Auchincloss.
(Western Newspaper Union.)

THE YALE UNIVERSITY RESERVE OFFICERS' TRAINING CORPS PASSING IN REVIEW ON YALE GREEN BEFORE COL. ISAAC ULLMAN, PRESIDENT OF THE NEW HAVEN CHAMBER OF COMMERCE, AFTER HAVING BEEN PRESENTED BY COL. ULLMAN WITH NEW AMERICAN AND ALLIED FLAGS. (Times Photo Service.)

LORD AND LADY WIMBORNE, VICEROY AND VICEREINE OF IRELAND, AND THEIR THREE CHILDREN AT THE VICEREGAL LODGE, DUBLIN. Lord Wimborne Organized the British Polo Team Which Won the American Cup at Meadowbrook in 1914.

(© Press Illustrating Service.)

GENERAL SIR W. R. MARSHALL,
Who Succeeds the Late General Maude in Command of British Forces in Mesopotamia. (Central News Photo Service.)

MEMBERS OF THE YALE RESERVE OFFICERS' TRAINING CORPS OPERATING A FRENCH "75" IN THE UNIVERSITY GYMNASIUM. (Times Photo Service.)