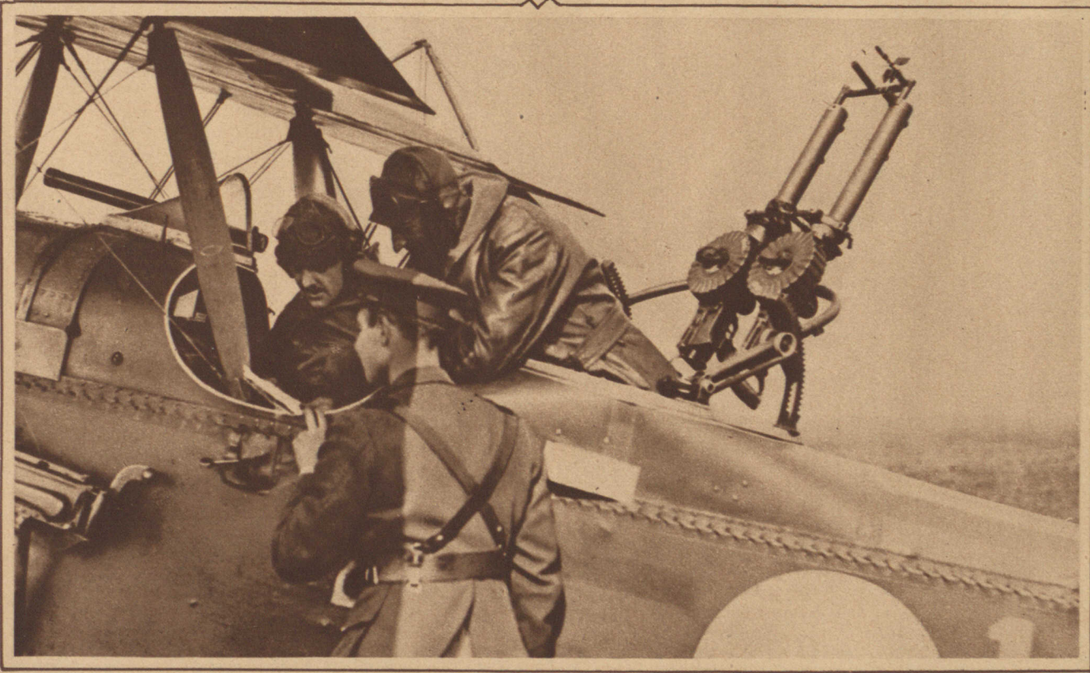
KEEPING OUR SALTS CIVILIZED

Wherever there are training camps there is also an institution called "War Camp Community Service."

Community houses are established and the towsnpeople entertain. Wonderful eats. The freezers are brought right in.

There's only one thing that matters just at this particular moment.

The importance of keeping up on the latest steps is never disputed.



Allied pilots keep a careful log of their cloud voyages. They bring back documents which the enemy would like to censor—would like enormously to censor.
