Authors Note

In answer to many favors calling for suggestions of modern low cost homes we have selected a few plans which seem to meet the demand of the general public in as much as they have been designed for comfort and convenience as well as artistic simplicity and economy. This type of home has become very prominent in California and is generally called the Bungalow. The characteristic California landscape and climate lends a charm or attractiveness to the Bungalow which is greatly admired and remembered by those who have been fortunate to visit our beautiful State. Yet this fact does not signify that the Bungalow is not an appropriate home for colder climates than the semi-tropical districts of California, for some of our most beautiful Bungalows in California are built far up in the snow-covered slopes of the high Sierras. Let me say more, that the Bungalow is not a fad but a decidedly sane and reasonable product of modern architecture. In designing the bungalow we strive first for convenience. We despise dust-catching mouldings and cold, damp rooms, as well as insufficient ventilation. We believe in saving steps for the housewife, therefore we do away with the pantry and adopt the buffet-kitchen by building cupboards in the kitchen wherever convenient. The wide projecting eaves of the Bungalow protect the windows from the blazing rays of the summer sun. Quite characteristic of the instinctive native Bungalows of India and Africa, as well as indicating the artistic attractiveness of the far-famed Swiss Chalet.

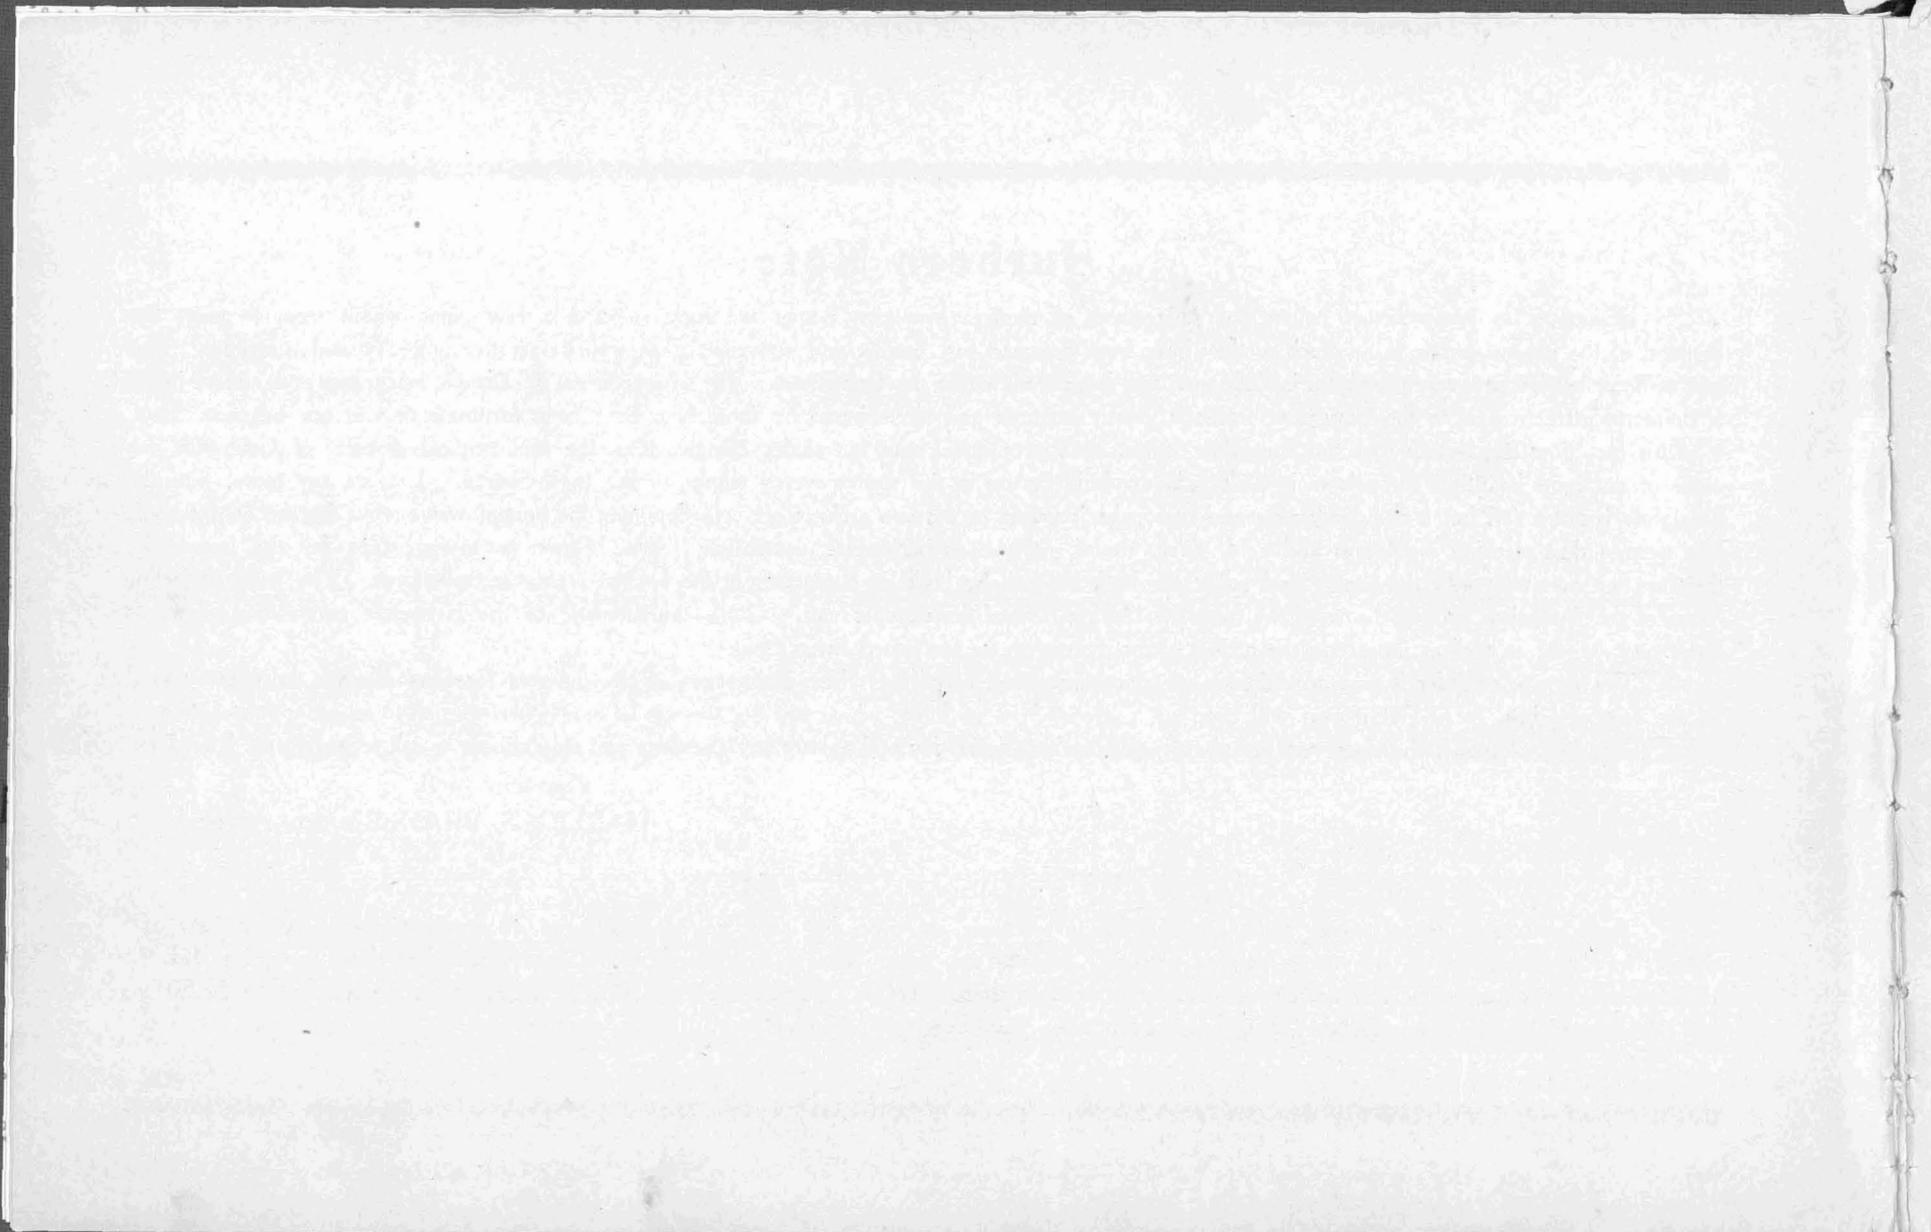

We do not consider it wise to estimate an approximate cost on any of these Bungalows as the different localities all over the country vary in the cost of labor, etc. But if you will drop us a line and let us know where you live we will be in a better position to fix an approximate cost.

We like everyone, therefore, we are always glad to hear from you and answer any questions you may choose to ask regarding the Bungalow.

Very truly yours,

HARLEY S. BRADLEY, Los Angeles.
