Scope and Content Note

The papers of William D. Salter (1795-1869) span the years 1810-1869 with the bulk of the material dating from the 1830s to the 1850s. The papers primarily consist of correspondence, both naval and personal. There is one folder of correspondence with secretaries of the navy James C. Dobbin, William A. Graham, and John Pendleton Kennedy. One letter to Graham details Salter's opposition to the abolition of flogging in the navy. There are three folders of letters written by Salter to his wife as well as a journal addressed to his wife kept during an 1831 ocean trip from New York to Mobile Bay, Alabama. Various other naval documents, such as ship's regulations, food and spirits rations, and a detailed description of Veracruz, Mexico, including how to navigate a ship through its harbor, constitute the remainder of the collection.
