Scope and Content Note

The papers of Tobias Lear (1762-1816) span 1790-1816 and consist mainly of correspondence and account books. The correspondence, mainly outgoing, pertains to the private affairs of George Washington; Lear's diplomatic missions to Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic, and the Barbary States; the Tripolitan War, 1801-1805; Lear's business affairs; and family matters. Correspondents include Sylvanus Bourne, Charles D. Coxe, Christopher Gore, David Humphreys, Benjamin L. Lear, and George Washington. Two letters added to the collection in 2011 are from Commodore Samuel Barron of Malta to Lear, dated May 18 and 22, 1805. They concern the captivity of the Philadelphia (frigate) and its captain, William Bainbridge, and Barron's resignation.

Also added to the papers in 2011 were five account books. Three of the volumes, 1803-1805, document the purchases of gold, jewels, fabric, and tea for distribution by the United States to officials of Tripoli, Algiers, and Tunis during the Tripolitan War, while Lear served as the United States consul in Algiers. The other account books, 1815-1816, pertain to improvements made to real estate in Washington, D.C.
