Biographical Note

Carmen Mercedes McRae was born in Harlem, on April 8, 1920. She studied piano as a child and her parents encouraged her towards classical music. As a teenager, McRae wrote songs and pursued the jazz scene in New York City leading to a friendship with jazz pianist Teddy Wilson and composer Irene Kitchings Wilson. Through their influence, one of McRae's early songs, "Dream of Life," was recorded by Teddy Wilson's longtime collaborator, vocalist Billie Holiday. Inspired by Holiday's depth of emotion and delivery of a lyric, McRae began to develop her own style and voice.

By the late 1940s, McRae was well-known among the young modern jazz musicians who gathered at Minton's, Harlem's most famous inside after-hours jazz club. This led to recordings with Miles Davis, Charlie Parker, Mercer Ellington and others. The turning point in her career happened in 1954 when she made her first recording as a lead with Carmen McRae.

She earned Down Beat magazine's "Best New Female Jazz Vocalist of the Year." McRae soon began recording with such major recording labels as Decca, MCA, Vocalion, and Verve. She recorded over sixty albums, toured the world, was heard on radio programs, and appeared on television and in films. McRae continued to perform until the age of seventy-one. Her final performance was at the Blue Note Jazz Club in New York. McRae died in Los Angeles on November 10, 1994.

Scope and Content Note

The Carmen McRae Collection of Musical Arrangements and Other Materials span from 1931 to 1993 with the majority of the materials dating from the 1950s to the 1970s. The collection chiefly consists of manuscript scores, parts, lead sheets, and annotated sheet music for approximately 800 songs. Notable arrangers whose works are found in this collection include Francy Boland, Ralph Burns, Benny Carter, John Clayton, Gene DiNovi, Bill Holman, Jimmy Jones, Thad Jones, Fred Katz, Johnny Keating, Arif Mardin, Peter Matz, Oliver Nelson, Nat Pierce, Shorty Rogers, Don Sebesky, Norman Simmons, and Ernie Wilkins.

McRae frequently performed with small groups, such as trios and quartets. She assigned numbers to the parts which refer back to her small group performance book. In many instances, these parts were taken from much larger arrangements. When applicable, these "small group #'s" are provided in notes in this finding aid.

In addition to the music materials, the McRae papers contain a small amount of correspondence, photographs, song lists, program notes and promotional materials.
