Administrative Information

Provenance

Originally received as part of the Rouben Mamoulian Papers from the Manuscript Division, Library of Congress. The playbills were transferred to the Rare Book and Special Collections Division between 2009 and the summer of 2010.

Processing History

The playbills portion of the Mamoulian Collection was organized and arranged initially by Ayelet Brinn, Library of Congress Junior Fellow in Summer, 2010. There was no pre-existing discernable original order for the playbills with the exception that some playbills from 1951, 1952, New York and Washington, DC 1958, and New York and Washington, DC 1959 were housed together. Processing was completed October 18, 2010.

Scope and Content Note

A collection of theater, film and concert programs for performances in New York, Washington, DC, Los Angeles, London, England and other locations. Also includes individual issues of film, theatre or entertainment journals, presentation copies and ephemera. Many items include annotations by Rouben Mamoulian. Includes presentation copy of "The History of the Theater" by Hannelore Marek inscribed by Helen C. Newman and inscribed copy in Russian of motion picture program "Liberation" to Mamoulian from Yuri Ozerov.

Rouben Mamoulian (1897-1987) was an Armenian American film and theatre director who interacted with major figures in the arts and entertainment of the twentieth century. He is known for his theatrical interpretations and innovative use of camera movement and sound. Mamoulian's stylized scenes created a poetic look to his films and abandoned ordinary realism. He is the recipient of a Lifetime Achievement Award from the Directors Guild of America and a David di Donatello Luchino Visconti Award. He has a star on the Hollywood Walk of Fame and was inducted into the American Theatre Hall of Fame in 1981.
