THE COMPLETE COOK:

Expertly prescribing the most ready ways, whether Italian, Spanish, or French, for dressing of Flesh and Fish, &c.

To make a Posset, the Earl of Arundel's Way.

Take a quart of Cream, and a quarter of a Nutmeg in it, then put it on the fire, & let it boyle a little while, and as it is boyling take a Pot or Basin, that you mean to make your Posset in, and put in three spoonfuls of Sack, and some eight of Ale
4. The Compleat Cook.

Ale, and sweeten it with Sugar, then set it over the coles to warm a little while, then take it off and let it stand till it be almost cool, then put it into the Pot or Baken and stir it a little, and let it stand to linger over the fire an hour or more, for the longer the better.

To Boyle a Capon larded with Lemons.

Take a fair Capon and truss him, boil him by himselfe in faire water with a little small Oat-meal, then take Mutton Broth, and half a pint of White-wine, a bundle of Herbs, whole Mace, season it with Vergis, put Marrow, Dates, season it with Sugar, then take preserved Lemons and cut them like Lard and with a larding pin, lard it in, then put the capon in a deep Dish, thicken your broth with Almonds, and pour it on the Capon.

To Bake Red Deere.

Put it, and then sauce it in Vinegar, then Lard it very thick, and season it with Pepper, Ginger and Musmagns, put it into a deep Pye with good store of sweet Butter, and let it bake, when it is baked, take a pint of Hippocrates, half a pound of of sweet batter, two or three Nutmegs, little Vinegar, pour it into the Pye in the Oven and let it lye and soake an hour, then take it out, and when it is cold stop the vent hole.

To make fine Pan-cakes fryed without Butter or Lard.

Take a pint of Cream, and six new laid Eggs, beat them very well together, put in a quarter of a pound of Sugar, and one Nutmeg or a little beaten Mace (which you please) and so much flour as will thicken almost as much as ordinarily Pan-cake butter; your Pan must be heated reasonably hot & wiped with a clean Cloth, this done put in your Batter as thick or thin as you please.

To dresse a Pig the French manner.

Take it and spit it, & lay it down to the fire, and when your Pig is through warme, skin her, and cut her off the Spit as another Pig is, and so divide it in twenty pieces more or lesse as you please; when you have so done, take some White-wine and strong broth, and stew it therein, with an Onion or two mixed very small, a little

A 3 Time
The Compleat Cook.

Time also minced with Nutmeg sliced and grated Pepper, some Anchovies and Elder Vinegar, and a very little sweet Butter, and Gravy if you have it, so Dish it up with the same Liquor it is stewed in, with French Bread sliced under it, with Oranges and Lemons.

To make a Steake Pye with a French Pudding in the Pye.

Season you Steaks with Pepper & Muttermegs, and let it stand an hour in a Tray then take a piece of the leanest of a Leg of Mutton and mince it small with Suet and a few sweet herbs, tops of young Time, a branch of Penny-royal, two or three of red Sage, grated bread, Yelks of Eggs, sweet Cream, Raisons of the Sun; work altogether like a Pudding, with your hands stiff, and roul them round like Bals, and put them into the Steaks in a deep Coffin with a piece of sweet Butter; sprinkle a little Verjuice on it, bake it, then cut it up and roul Sage leaves and fry them, and stick them upright in the walls, and serve your Pye without a Cover, with the juyce of an Orange or Lemon.
An excellent way of dressing Fish.

Take a piece of fresh Salmon, and wash it clean in a little Vinegar and water, and let it lie a while in it, then put it into a great Pipkin with a cover, and put to it some six spoonfuls of water, and four of Vinegar, and as much of white-wine, a good deal of Salt, a handful of sweet herbs, a little white Sorrel, a few Cloves, a little flick of Cinnamon, a little Mace; put all these in a Pipkin close, and set it in a Kettle of seething water, and there let it stew three hours.

You may doe Carps, Eeles, Trouts, &c. this way, and they taste also to your mind.

To fricase Sheep's-feet.

Take Sheep's-feet, slit the bone, and pick them very clean, then put them in a Frying-pan, with a Ladlefull of strong Broth, a piece of Butter, and a little Salt; after they have fryed a while, put to them a little Parsley; green Chibals, a little young Speremint and Tyme, all shred very small, and a little beaten Pepper; when you think A 4
The Compleat Cook.

Think they are fried almost enough, have a bear made for them with the yolks of two or three Eggs, some Gravy of Mutton, a little Nutmeg, and juice of a Lemon wrung therein, and put this bear to the Sheeps feet as they fry in the Pan, then toss them once or twice, and put them forth into the Dish you mean to serve them in.

To fricate Calves Chaldrons.

Take a Calves Chaldron, after it is little more then half boiled, and when it is cold, cut it into little bits as big as Walnuts; season it with beaten Cloves, Salt, Nutmeg, Mace, and a little Pepper, an Onion, Parsley, and a little Tarragon, all shred very small, then put it into a frying-pan, with a Ladlefull of strong broth, and a little piece of sweet Butter, so fry it; when it is fried enough, have a little bear made with the Gravy of Mutton, the juice of a Lemon and Orange, the yolks of three or four Eggs, and a little Nutmeg grated therein; put all this to your Chaldrons in the Pan, toss your Fricat two or three times, then dish it, and so serve it up.
To Fricate Champigneons.

Make ready your champigneons as you do for stewing, and when you have poured away the black liquor that comes from them, put your champigneons into a frying pan with a piece of sweet butter a little Parsley, Tyme, sweet Marjoram, a piece of Onion shred very small, a little Salt and fine beaten Pepper, so fry them till they be enough, so have ready the lard above said, & put it to the Champigneons whilst they are in the Pan, tos them two or three times, put them forth and serve them.

To make buttered Loaves.

Take the yolks of twelve Eggs, and six whites and a quarter of a pint of yeast, when you have beaten the Eggs well, strain them with the yeast into a Dish, then put to it a little Salt and two sauses of Ginter beaten very small, then put flour to it till it come to a high Paste that will not cleave, then you must roul it upon you hands, and afterwards put it into a warm Cloth, and let it lye there a quarter of an houre, then make it up in little Laves, bake it.
against it is baked prepare a pound and a half of Butter, a quarter of a pint of white wine, and half a pound of Sugar; This being melted and beaten together with it, let them into the Oven a quarter of an hour.

To marinate Carps, Mullet, Gurnet, Rochet, or Wale, & c.

Take a quart of water to a Gallon of Vinegar, a good handful of Bay-leaf, as much Rosemary, a quarter of a pound of Pepper beaten; put all these together, and let it seeth softly, & season it with a little Salt, then fry your Fish with frying Oyle till it be enough, then put in an earthen Vessel, and lay the Bay-leaves and Rosemary between and about the Fish, and pour the Broath upon it, and when it is cold cover it, & c.

To make a Calves Chaldron Pye.

Take a Calves Chaldron, half boil it, and cool it; when it is cold mince it as small a grated bread, with half a pound of Marrow; season it with Salt, beaten Clove, Mace, Nutmeg a little Onion, and some of the outmost rind of a Lemon minced minced very small, and wring in the juice of halfe a Lemon, and then mix all together, then make a piece of puff Past, and lay a leaf thereof in a silver Dish of the bigness to contain the meat; then put in your meat, and cover it with another leaf of the same Past, and bake it; and when it is baked take it out, and open it, and put in the juice of two or three Oranges, stir it well together, then cover it again and serve it. Be sure none of your Orange kernels be among your Pye-meat.

To make a Pudding of a Calves Chaldron.

Take your Chaldron after it is half boiled and cold, mince it as small as you can with half a pound of Beef Suet, or as much Marrow, season it with a little Onion, Parsley, Tyme, and the outermost rind of a piece of Lemon, all shred very small, Salt, beaten Nutmeg, Cloves and Mace mixed together, with the yolks of four or five Eggs, and a little sweet Cream; then have ready the great Gutts of a Mutton scraped and washed very clean; let your Gutts have lain in White-wine and Salt halfe a day before you use it; when your meat is mixed and made up somewhat stiff put it into the Sheeps-gott, and so boil it, when

To make Loaves of Cheese Curds.

Take a Porringer full of Curds, and four Eggs whites and yolks, and so much flour as will make it stiff, then take a little Ginger, Nutmeg and some Salt, make them into loaves and let them into an oven with a quick
The Compleat Cook.

A quick heat; when they begin to change Colour take them out, and put melted Butter to them, and some Sack, and good store of Sugar, and so serve it.

To make fine Pies after the French fashion:

Take a pound and a half of Veale, two pound of suet, two pound of great Raisins stoned, half a pound of Prunes, as much of Currans, six Dates, two Nutmegs, a spoonfull of Pepper, an ounce of Sugar, an ounce of Carrawayes, a Saucer of Ven-juce, and as much Rosewater, this will make three fair Pyes, with two quarts of flower, three yolks of Eggs, and half a pound of Butter.

A Singular Receipt for making a Cake.

Take half a peck of flower, two pound of Butter, mingle it with the flower, three Nutmegs, & a little Mace, Cinnamon, Ginger, half a pound of Sugar, leave some out to flame on the top, mingle these well with the flower and Butter, five pound of Currans well washed, & pickt, and dryed in a warm Cloth, a wine pint of Ale yeast, six Eggs, leave out the whites, a quart of Cream boyled and almost cold againe: work work it well together and let it be very lith, lay it in a warm Cloth, and let it lie half an hour against the fire. Then make it up with the white of an Egg, a little Butter, Rosewater and Sugar; Ice it over, and put it into the Oven, and let it stand one whole hour and a half.

To make a great Curd Loaf.

Take the Curds of three quarts of new milk clean wheyed, & rub into them a little of the finest flower you can get, then take half a race of Ginger, and slice it very thin, and put it into your Curds with a little Salt, then take halfe a pint of good Ale Yeast and put to it, then take ten Eggs, but three of the Whites, let there be so much flower as will make it into a reasonable stiff Paste, then put it into an indifferent hot cloth, and lay it before the fire to rise while your Oven is heating, then make it up into a Loaf, and when it is baked, cut up the top of the Loaf, and put in a pound and a half of melted Butter, and a good deal of Sugar in it.
To make buttered Loaves of Cheese-curd.

Take three quarts of new Milk, and put in as much Rennet as will turn, take your Whey clean away, then break your Curds very small with your hands, and put in six yolks of Eggs, but one white; an handful of grated bread, an handful of Flower, a little Salt mingled altogether; work it with your hand, roll into little Loaves, then set them in a Pan buttered, then beat the yolk of an Egg with a little Beer, and wipe them over with a feather, then set them in the Oven as for Manchet, and stop that close three quarters of an hour; then take half a pound of butter, three spoonfuls of water, a Nutmeg sliced thin, a little Sugar, set it on the fire, stir it till it be thick; when your Loaves are baked, cut off the tops and butter them with this Butter, come under, some over, and throw some Sugar on them.

To make Cheese-loaves.

Grate a Cheat-Loaf, and take as much Curd as bread, to that put eight yolks of Eggs and four Whites, and beat them very well, then take a little Cream, but let it it be very thick, put altogether, and make them up with two handfuls of flour, the Curds must be made of new milk and whayed very dry, you must make them like little Loaves, and bake them in an Oven; and being baked cut them up, and have in readiness some sweet Butter, Sugar, Nutmeg sliced and mingled together, put it into the Loaves, and with it stir the Cream well together, then cover them again with the tops, and serve them with a little Sugar scraped on.

To make Puff.

Take four pints of new milk, rennet, take out all the Whey very clean, and wring it in a dry Cloth, then strain it in a wooden Dish till they become as Cream, then take the yolks of two Eggs, and beat them and put them to the Curds, and leave them with the Curds, then put a spoonfull of Cream to them, and if you please halfe a spoonful of Rose-water, and as much flour beat in it as will make it of an indifferent stiffness, just to roul on a Plate, then take of the Kidney of Mutton suet and purifie it, and fry them in it, and serve them in with Butter, Rosewater and Sugar.
To make Elder Vinegar.

Gather the flowers of Elder, pick them very clean, and dry them in the Sun on a gentle heat, and take to every quart of Vinegar a good handful of flowers and let it stand to sun a fortnight, then strain the Vinegar from the flowers, and put it into the barrell againe, and when you draw a quart of Vinegar, draw a quart of water, and put it into the Barrell luke warme.

To make good Vinegar.

Take one strike of Malt, and one of Rye ground, and mash them together, and take if they be of good three pound of Hops, if not four pound; make two Hogs-heads of the best of that Malt and Rye, then lay the Hogsheads where the Sunne may have power over them, and when it is ready to Tun, fill your hogsheds where they lye, then let them purge clear and cover them with two flate stones, and within a week after when you bake, take two cheat loaves hot out of the Oven, and put into each Hogshedd a loaf, you must use this foure times, you must brew this in April, and let it stand till June, then draw them clearer, then wash the Hogsheds clean, and put the Beer in again; if you will have it Rose-vinegar, you must put in a strike and a half of Roses; if Elder-vinegar, a peck of the flowers; if you will have it white, put nothing in it after it is drawn, and let it stand till Michaelmas; if you will have it coloured red, take four gallons of strong Ale as you can get, and Elder berries picked a few full clear, and put them in your pan with the Ale, let them over the fire till you guess that a pint is wasted, then take it off the fire, and let it stand till it be stone cold, and the next day strain it into the Hogsheds, then lay them in a Cellar or Buttery which you please.

To make a Collar of Beef.

Take the thinnest end of a coast of beef, boyle it and lay it in Pump-water, & a little salt, three days shifting it once every day, and the last day put a pint of Claret Wine to it, and when you take it out of the water, let it lie two or three hours a drayning; then cut it almost to the end in three slices, then bruise a little Cochinell and a very little Allum, & mingle it with the Claret-wine, & colour the meat all o
The Compleat Cook.

ever with it, then take a dozen of Anchovies, wash them and bone them, and lay them into the Beef, and season it with Cloves, Mace and Pepper, and two handfuls of salt, and a little sweet Marjoram and Tyme, and when you make it up, roll the innermost slice first, and the other two upon it, being very well seasoned everywhere, and bind it hard with Tape, then put it into a stone-pot, something bigger than the Coller, and pour upon it a pint of Claretwine, and halfe a pint of wine-vinegar, a sprig of Rosemary, and a few of Bay-leaves and bake it very well; before it is quite cold, take it out of the Pot, and you may keep it dry as long as you please.

To make an Almond Pudding.

Take two or three French-Rowles, or white penny bread, cut them in slices, and put to the bread as much Cream as will cover it, put it on the fire till your Cream and bread be very warm, then take a ladle of milk, and beat it very well together; put to this twelve Eggs, but not above four white, put in Beef Suet, or Marrow, according to your discretion, put a pretty quantity of Currans and Raisins; season the Pudding with Nutmeg, Mace, Salt, and Sugar,
Sugar, but very little flower for it will make it bad and heavy; make a piece of puff past as much as will cover your dish, so cut it very handsomely what fashion you please; Butter the bottom of your Dish, put the pudding into the Dish, let it in a quick Oven, not too hot as to burne it, let it bake till you think it be enough, scrape on Sugar, and serve it up.

To Boyle Cream with French Barly.

Take the third part of a pound of French Barley, wash it well with faire water, and let it lie all night in fair water, in the morning set two skillets on the fire with faire water, and in one of them put your Barley, and let it boil till the water look red, then put the water from it, and put the Barley into the other warme water, thus boil it and change with fresh warm water till it boil white, then strain the water clean from it, then take a quart of Creame, put into it a Nutmeg or two quartered, a little large Mace and some Sugar, and let it boil together a quarter of an hour, and when it hath thus boyled, put into it the yolks of three or foure Egges, well beaten with a little little Rose-water, then dish it forth, and eat it cold.

To make Cheese-Cakes.

Take three Eggs and beat them very well, and as you beat them, put to them as much fine flower as will make them thick, then put to them three or four Eggs more, and beat them altogether; then take one quart of Creame, and put into it a quarter of a pound of sweet butter, and let them over the fire, and when it begins to boyle, put to it your Eggs and flower, stir it very well, and let it boyle till it be thick, then season it with Salt, Cinamon, Sugar, and Currans, and bake it.

To make a Quaking Pudding.

Take a Pint and somewhat more of thick Creame, ten Eggs, put the whites of three, beat them very well with two spoonfuls of Rose-water; mingle with your Creame three spoonfuls of fine flower, mingle it so well, that there be no lumps in it, put it altogether, and steep it according to your Tast; Butter a Clot a very well, and let it be thick, that it may not run out, and let it boyle for halfe half an hour as fast as you can, then take it up and make Sauce with Butter, Rose-water and Sugar, and serve it up. You may stick some blanched Almonds upon it if you please.

To Pickle Cucumbers.

Put them in an Earthen Vessel, lay first a Lay of Salt and Dill, then a Lay of Cucumbers, and so till they be all Layed, put in some Mace and whole Pepper, and some Fennel-seed according to direction, then fill it up with Beer-Vinegar, and a clean board, and a stone upon it to keep them within the Pickle, and so keep them close covered, and if the Vinegar is black, change them into fresh.

To Pickle Broom Buds.

Take your Buds before they be yellow on the top, make a Brine of Vinegar and Salt, which you must do only by shaking it together till the Salt be melted, then put in your Budds and keep stirred on in a day till they be sunk within the Vinegar, be sure to keep close covered.
To keep Quinces raw all the year.

Take some of the worst Quinces and cut them into small pieces and Coares and Parings, boyle them in water, and put to a Gallon of water, some three spoonfuls of Salt, as much Honey; boyle these together till they are very strong, and when it is cold, put it into half a pint of Vinegar in a wooden Vessel or Earthen Pot; and take then as many of your best Quinces as will go into your Liquor, then hop them up very close that no Aire get into them, and they will keep all the year.

To make a Gooseberry Fool.

Take your Gooseberries, and put them in a Silver or Earthen Pot, and let it in a Skillet of boylinge Water, and when they are coddled enough strain them, then make them hot again when they are scalding hot, beat them very well with a good piece of fresh butter, Rose-water and Sugar, and put in the yolke of two or three Eggs; you may put Rose-water into them, and so stir it altogether, and serve it to the Table when it is cold.
To make an Oatmeale Pudding.

Take a Porringer full of Oatmeale beaten to flower, a pint of Creame, one Nutmeg, four Eggs beaten, three whites, a quarter of a pound of Sugar, a pound of Beef-suet well minced, mingle all these together, and so bake it. An hour will bake it.

To make a green Pudding.

Take a penny loaf of stale Breat, grate it, put to halfe a pound of Sugar, grated Nutmeg, as much salt as will season it, three quarters of a pound of beef suet shred very small, then take sweet Herbs, the most of them Marigolds, eight Spinages: shred the Herbs very small, mix all well together, then take two Eggs and work them up together with your hand, and make them into round balls, and when the water boyles put them in, serve them with Rosewater, Sugar, and Butter or Sauce.
To make good Sausages.

Take the lean of a Legge of Pork, and four pound of Beet-suet, or rather butter, shred them together very small, then sealon it with three quarters of an ounce of Pepper, and halfe an ounce of Cloves and Mace mixed together, as the Pepper is, a handfull of Sage when it is chopt small, and as much salt as you thinke will make them tast well of it; mingle all these with the meat, then break in ten Egges, all but two or three of the whites, then temper it all well with your hands, and fill it into Hoggs guts, which you must have ready for them; you must tye the ends of them like Puddings, and when you eat them you must boyle them on a sofle fire; a hot will crack the skins, and the goodnesse boyle out of them.

To make Toasts.

Cut two penny Loaves in round slices and dip them in half a pint of Cream or cold water, then lay them abroad in a Dish, and beat three Egges and grated Nutmegs and Sugar, beat them with the Cream, then take your frying Pan and melt some Butter in it, and wet one side of your Toasts and lay them in on the wet side, then pour in the rest upon them and fry them; send them in with Rosewater, Butter and Sugar.
The Compleat Cook.

Spanish Cream.

Put hot water in a Bucket and go with it to the Milking, then pour out the Water, and instantly milke into it, and presently strain it into milk-Pans of an ordinary fulness, but not after an ordinary way; for you must set your Pan on the ground and stand on a stool, and pour it forth that it may rise in bubbles with the fall; this on the morrow will be a very tough Cream, which you must take off with your Skimmer, and lay it in the dish, laying upon laying; and if you please, strew some sugar between them.

To make Clouted Cream.

Take four quarts of Milke, one of Cream, six spoonfuls of Rose-water, put these together in a great Earthen Milk-e-Pan, set it upon a fire of Charcoale well kindled, you must be
The Compleat Cook.

Fur the fire be not too hot; then let it stand a day and a night; and when you go to take it off, loose the edge of your cream round about with a knife, then take your board, and lay the edges that is left beside the board, cut into many pieces, and put them into the dish first, and scrape some fine sugar upon them, then take your board and take off your cream as clean from the milk as you can, and lay it upon your dish, and if your dish be little there will be some left, the which you may put into what fashion you please, and scrape good store of sugar upon it.

A good Cream.

When you churn butter, take out six spoonfuls of cream just as it is to turn to butter, that is, when it is a little frothy; then boyle good cream as much as will make a dish, and season it with sugar, and a little rose-water; when it is quite cold enough, mingle it very well with that you take out of the churn and so dish it.
To make Piramidis Cream.

Take a quart of water, and six ounces of Harts horn, and put it into a Bottle with Gum dragon, and Gum-arabick, each as much as a small Nut, put all this into the Bottle, which must be so big as will hold a pint more; for if it be full it will break; stop it very close with a Cork, and tye a Cloth about it, put the Bottle into a pot of beef when it is boylmg, and let it boyle three hours, then take as much Cream as there is Jelly, and half a pound of Almonds well beaten with Rose-water, so that you cannot discern what they be, mingle the Cream and the Almonds together, then strain it, and do so two or three times to get all you can out of the Almonds, then put jelly when it is cold into a silver Basin, and the Cream to it; sweeten it as you like, put in two or three grains of Musk and Amber-greece, set it over the fire, stirring it continually and skimming it, till it be seething hot, but let it not boyle, then put it into an old fashion drinking-Glass, and let it stand till it is cold, and when you will use it, hold your Glass in a warm hand, and loosen it with a Knife, and whelm it into a Dish, and have have in readiness a Pine Apple blow'n, and lick it all over, and serve it in with Cream or without as you please.

To make a Sack Creame.

Set a quart of Creame on the fire, when is boyled, drop in a spoonful of sack, and stir it well the while that it curd not,
so do till you have dropped in six spoonfuls, then season it with sugar, Nutmeg, and strong water.

To boyle Pigeons.

Stuffe the Pigeons with Parsley, and butter, and put them into an Earthen Pot, and put some sweet butter to them and let them boyle; take Parsley, Tyme, and Rosemary, chop them and put them to them; take some sweet butter, and put in withall some spinage, take a little gross Pepper and salt, and season it withall, then take the yolke of an Egge and strain it with Verjuyce, and put to them, lay sip-that Water or Broth wherein the Chican teen were boil'd, and let it then over a Chaffing Dish of coals between two Dishes, that so it may stew on till it be fully enough; but first season it with Salt and gross Pepper, and afterwards add Oyl to it, more or less according to the goodness thereof; and a little before you take it from the fire, you must addde such a quantity of juyce of Lemons as may best agree with your Taste. This makes an excellent dish of Meat, which must be served up in the Liquor; and though for a need it may be made with Butter instead of Oyl, and with Vinegar instead of juice of Lemons, yet is the other incomparably better for such as are not Enemies to Oyle. The same Dish may be made also of Veal or Partridge, or Rabbits, and indeed the best of them all is Rabbits if they be used so before Michaelmas, for afterwards me-thinkes they grow ranke; for though they be fatter, yet the flesh is more hard and dry.

Take a couple of young Capons, Truffle and set them and fill their bel-ches with Marrow, put them into a Pip-kine, with a knuckle of Veale, a Neck of Mutton, and a Marrow bone, and some sweet bread of Veale; season your Broth with Cloves, Mace, and a little Salt, set it to the fire, and let it boyle gently till your Capons be enough, but boyle them not too much; as your Capons boyle, make ready the bottoms and Tops of eight or ten new Rowles, and put them dried into a faire Silver Dish wherein you serve the Capons; set it on the fire, and put to your bread, two Ladlefuls of Broth wherein your Capons are boyled, and a Ladlefull of the gravy of Mutton;

you Dish up your Capons; if need require, add now and then a Ladlefull of

To make Sugar Cakes.

or Fumbals.

Take two pound of flower, dry it and season it very fine, then take a pound of Loaf Sugar, and beat it very fine, and scarce it, mingle your Flower and Sugar very well, then take a pound and a halfe of sweet Butter and wash out the Salt
Salt, and break it into bits with your Flower and Sugar, then take yolks of four new laid Eggs, and four or five spoonfuls of Sack, and four spoonfuls of Cream; beat all these together, then put them into your Flower, and knead them to a Paste, and make them into what fashion you please, and lay them upon Paper or Plates, and put them into the Oven, and be careful of them, for a very little thing bakes them.

For Jumble you must only add the whites of two or three Eggs.

To bash a Shoulder of Mutton.

Take a Shoulder of Mutton and slice it very thin till you have almost nothing but the Bone, then put to the meat some Claret Wine, a great Onion, some Gravy of Mutton, six Anchovies, a handful of Capers, the tops of a little Tyme, mince them very well together, then take nine or tenne Eggs, the juyce of one or two Lemons to make to make it tart, and make leere of them, then put the meat all in a frying Pan over the fire till it be very hot; then put in the leere of Eggs and soak altogether over the fire till it be very thick; then boyle your bone, and put it on the top of your meat being Dished, Garnish your Dish with Lemons, serve it up.

To dresse Flounders o r Playce with Garlick and Mustard.

Take Flounders very new, and cut all the Fins and Tailes, then take out the Guts and wipe them very clean, they must not be at all washd, then with your Knife scotch them on both sides very grossely; then take the tops of Tyme and cut them very small, and take a little Salt, Mace, and Nutmeg, and mingle the Tyme and them together, and seafon the Flounders; then lay them on the Gridiron and bat them with Oyle or Butter, let not the fire be too hot, when that side next the fire is brown; turn it, and when you turn it, bat it on both sides till you have broyll them Brown, when they are enough make your sauce with Mustard two or three Spoonful according
The compleat Cook.

Dicing to discretion, six Anchovies dissolved very well, about half a pound of butter drawn up with garlick, vinegar, or bruised garlick in other vinegar, rubb the bottom of your dish with garlick. So put your sauce to them, and serve them, you may fry them if you please.

A Turkish Dish.

Take fat Beef or Mutton cut in thin slices, wash it well, put it into a pot that hath a close cover, then put into it a good quantity of clean pick'd rice, skim it very well; then put into it a quantity of whole pepper, two or three whole onions; let all this boil very well, then take out the onion and dish it in Sippets, the thicker it is, the better.

To dress a Pyke.

Cut him in pieces, and strew upon him salt and scalding vinegar, boyle him in water and White Wine, when he is boylig put in sweet Herbs, Onion, Garlick, Ginger, Nutmeg, and salt: when he is boyled take him out of the Liquor, and let him drayn, in the mean time beat Butter
Butter and Anchovies together, and pour it on the fish, squeezing a little Orange and Lemon upon it.

To dress Oysters.

Take Oysters and open them, and save the Liquor, and when you have opened so many as you please, add to this Liquor some White-wine, wherein you must wash your Oysters one by one very clean and lay them in another Dish; then strain to them that mixed wine and Liquor wherein they were washed, adding a little more Wine to them with an Onion divided with some salt and pepper, so done, cover the Dish and stew them till they be more then halfe done; then take them and the Liquor, and pour it into a frying-pan, wherein they must fry a pretty while, then put into them a good piece of sweet butter, and fry them therein so much longer; in the mean time you must have beaten the yolks of some Eggs, as four or five to a quart of Oysters: These Eggs must be beaten with some Vinegar, wherein you must put some minced pasty and Nutmeg finely scraped, and put therein the Oysters in the pan, which must still
The Compleat Cook.

If it be kept stirring, lest the Liquor make the Eggs cruddle, let this all have a good name on the fire, and serve it up.

To dress Flounders.

Flake off the black skin, and scower the fish over on that side with a knife, lay them in a dish, and pour on them some Vinegar, and strew good store of salt, let them lie for hale an hour; in the meantime set on the fire some water with a little white Wine, Garlic and sweet Herbs as you please, putting into it the Vinegar and salt wherein they lay, when it boils put in the biggest fish, then the next till all be in; when they are boiled, take them out and drain them very well, then draw some sweet butter thicke, and mix with it some Anchovies shred small, which being dissolved in the Butter, pour it on the fish, strewing a little sliced Nutmegs and minced Oranges and Barbaries.
To dresse Snails.

Take Snailes and put them in a Kettle of water, and let them boyle a little, then take them out, and shake them out of the shells into a Basen; then take some Salt and scour them very well, and wash them in warme water, until you find the slime cleanse gone from them; then put them into a cullender and let them draine well, then mince some sweet herbes, and put them into a Dish with a little pepper and Sallet Oyle together, then let them stand an hour or two; then wash the shells very well, and dry them, and put into every shell a Snail, and fill up the shell with Sallet Oyle and herbs, then set them on a gridiron upon a soft fire, and so let them stew a little while, and dish them up warm and serve them up.

To dresse pickle fish.

Wash them well while they are in the shell in salt water, put them into a Kettle over the fire with out water; and stirre them till they are open, then take them out of their shells hells, and wash them in hot water and salt, then take some of their owne liquor that they have made in the Kettle, a little white wine, butter, vinegar, Spice, Parsley; let all these boil together, and when it is boil'd, take the yelke of three or four Egs, and put into the broth. Scallops may be dressed on this manner or broild like Oysters with Oyle or juice of Lemons.

To fricote Beefe Pallats.

Take Beefe pallats after they be boil'd very tender, Blaunch and pare them clean, season them with fine beaten cloves Nutmegg, Pepper, Salt, and some grated bread; then have some butter in a frying pan, put your pallats therein, and so fricat them till they be browne on both sides, then take them forth and put them on a dish, and put thereto some gravy of mutton, wherein two or three Anchoves are dissolved, grate in your sauce a little Nutmegg, wring in the juyce of a Lemon, to serve them.
A Spanish Olio.

Take a piece of Bacon not very fat, but sweet and safe from being ruddy, a piece of fresh beef, a couple of hogg Eares and soure feet if they can be had, and if not, some quantity of sheeps feet (Calves feet are not proper) a joynt of Mutton, the Leg, Rack, or Loyne, a Hen, halfe a dozen pigeons, a bundle of Parsley, Leeks, and Mint, a clove of Garlick when you will, a small quantity of pepper, cloves, and saffron, so mingled that not one of them overrule, the pepper and cloves must be beaten as fine as possible may be, and the saffron must be first dried, and then crumble in powder and dissolved apart in two or three spoonfuls of broth, but both the spices and the Saffron may be kept apart till immediately before they be used, which must not be, till within a quarter of an hour before the Olio be taken off from the fire; a potte of hard dry pease, when they have first steeped in water some dayes, a pint of boyld Chesnutes: particular care must be had that the pot where in the Olio is made, be very sweet; Earthen I thinke is the best, and judgemen
The Compleat Cook.

ment is to be had carefully both in the size of the Pot, and in the quantity of the Water at the first, that so the Broth may grow afterwards to be neither too much nor too little, nor too grosse, nor too thin; thy meat must be long in boyling, but the fire not too fierce, the Bacon, the Beef, the Pease, the Chestnuts, the Hogs Eares may be put in at the first. I am utterly against those confused Olios into which men put almost all kinds of meats and Rootes, and especially against putting of Oyle for it corrupts the Broth, instead of adding goodness to it. To do well, the Broth is rather to be drunk out of a Porringer then to be eaten with a spoon, though you add some small Slices of Bread to it, you will like it the worse. The Sauce for thy meat must be as much fine Sugar beaten small to powder with a little Mustard as can be made to drink the Sugar up and you will find it to be excellent, but if you make it not faithfully and justly according to this prescript, but shall neither put Mace, or Rosemary, or Tyme to the Herbs as the manner is of some, it will prove very much the worse.
To make Metheglin.

Take all sorts of Herbs that are good and wholesome, as Balme, Mint, Fennell, Rosemary, Angelica, wilde Tyme, Hop, Burnet, Egrimony, and such other as you think fit; some Field Hearbs, but you must not put in too many, but especially Rosemary or any strong Herb, less than half a handful will serve of every sort, you must boyle your Herbs and strain them, and let the Liquor stand till to Morrow and settle them, take off the clearest Liquor, two Gallons and a halfe to one Gallon of Honey, and that proportion as much as you will make, and let it boyle an hour, and in the boyling skim it very clean, then let it a cooling as you doe Beere, when it is cold take some very good Ale Barme, and put into the bottome of the Tubb a little and a little as they doe Beere, keeping backe the thicke ferling, that lyeth in the bottome of the Vessell that it is cooled in, and when it is all put together, cover it with a Cloth, and let it worke very neere three dayes, and when you mean to put it up, skim off all the Barme clean, put it it up into the Vessel, but you must not stop your Vessel very close in three or four days, but let it have all the vent, for it will worke, and when it is close stopped, you must looke very often to it, and have a peg in the top to give it vent; when you heare it make a noise, as it will do, or else it will break the Vessel; sometime I make a Bag and put in good store of Ginger sliced, some Cloves and Cinnamon, and boil it in, and other times I put it into the Barrel and never Boyle it, it is both good, but Nutmeg and Mace do not well to my Taste.

To make a Sallet of Smelts.

Take halfe a hundred of Smelts, the biggest you can get, draw them and cut off their Heads, put them into a Pirkín with a pint of Whit wine, and a Pint of White wine Vinegar, an Onion shred, a couple of Lemmons, a Race of Ginger, three or foure blades of Mace, a Nutmegg sliced, whole Pepper, a little Salt, cover them, and let them stand twenty foure hours; if you will keepe them three or foure dayes, let not your Pickle be too strong of the Vinegar; when when you will serve them, take them out one by one, scrape and open them as you do Anchovies, but throw away the bones, lay them close one by one, round a Silver dish, you must have the very utmost rind of a Lemon or Orange so small as grated bread and the Parsley, then mix your Lemon Pill, Orange and Parsley together with a little fine beaten Pepper, and shew this upon the dish of Smelts with the meat of a Lemon minced very small, also then power on excellent Sallet-Oyle, and wring in the juyce of two Lemons, but be sure none of the Lemonseed be left in the Sallet, so serve it.

To Roast a Fillet of Veal.

Take a Fillet of Beef which is the tenderest part of the Beast, and lyeth only in the inward part of the Surloyn next to the Chyne, cut it as big as you can, then broach it on a broach not too big, and be carefull you broach it not thorow the best of the meat, roast it leasurely and baste it with Sweet Butter. Set a Dish under it to save the Gravy while the Beef is roasting, prepare the Sauce for it, chop good store of Parsley with

To make a Sallet of a cold Hen or a Capon.

Take the breast of a Hen or Capon, and slice it as thin as you can in steaks, put therein Vinegar, and a little Sugar as you thinke fit, then take six Anchoves, and a handful of Caphers, a little long, gross or a carrigon, and mince them together, but not too small, strew them on the Sallet, Garnish it with Lemons, Oranges or barberies, so serve it up with a little salt.

To new Mushrooms.

Take them fresh gathered and cut off the hard end of the stalk, & as you pill them throw them into a Dish of white Wine, after after they have lain half an hour or there-upon drain them from the wine, and put them between two silver dishes, then set them on a soft fire without any liquor, and when they have so stewed a while, pour away the Liquor that comes from them which will be very black, then put your Mushrooms into another clean dish with a sprig or two of Time, an Onion whole, four or five cornes of whole pepper, two or three cloves, a bit of an Orange, a little salt, a bit of sweet butter, and some pure gravy of Mutton, cover them, and set them on a gentle fire, so let them stew softly till they be enough and very tender, when you dish them, blow off all the fat from them and take out the Time, spice, and Orange, then wring the juice of a Lemon, and grate a little Nutmeg among the Mushrooms, tosse them two or three times, put them in a clean dish, and serve them hot to the Table.
The compleat Cook.

The Lord Conway his Lordships receipt for the making of Amber Puddings.

First take the Guts of a young hog, and wash them very clean, and then take two pound of the best hogs fat, and a pound and a half of the best Jurden almonds, the which being blancht, take one half of them, & beat them very small, and the other halfe reserve whole unbeatenn, then take a pound and a halfe of fine Sugar and four white loves, and grate the Loaves over the former composition, and mingle them well together in a basin, having so done, put to it halfe an ounce of Ambergreence, the which must be scraped very small over the said composition, take halfe a quarter of an ounce of levant musk and bruise it in a marble morter, with a quarter of a pint of orange flower water, then mingle these all very well together, and having so done, fill the said Guts therewith, this Receipt was given his Lordship by an Italian for a great variety, and has been found so to be by those Ladies of honour to whom his Lordship has imparted the said reception.
To make a Partridge Tart.

Take the flesh of four or five Partridges minced very small with the same weight of Beef marrow as you have Partridge flesh with two ounces of Orange adoes and green citron minced together as small as your meat, season it with Cloves and Mace and Nutmeg, and a little salt and Sugar, mix all together, and bake it in puff past; when it is baked, open it, and put in halfe a Grain of Muske or Amber braid in a morter or Dish, and with a spoonfull of Rosewater and the juyce of three or four Oranges, when you put all these therein, stir the meat and cover it again, and serve it to the Table.

To keep Venison all the year.

Take the haunch, and parboyle it a while, then season it with two Nutmegs, a spoonfull of Pepper, and a good quantity of salt, mingle them altogether, then put two spoonfulls of white Wine Vinegar, and having made the Venison full of holes, as you doe when you Lard it, when it is Larded, put in the Venison
The compleat Cook.

Let at the holes, the Spice and Vinegar, and season it therewith, then put part into the Pot with the fat side downwards, cover it with two pound of Butter, then close it up close with course Paft, when you take it out of the Oven, take away the Paft, and lay a round Trencher with a weight on the top of it to keep it down till it be cold, then take off the Trencher, and lay the Butter flat upon the Venison, then cover it close with strong white Pepper, if your Pot be narrow at the bottom it is the better, for it must be turned upon a Plate, and stuck with Bay-leaves when you please to eat it.

To bake Brawn.

Take two Buttocks and hang them up two or three dayes, then take them down and dip them into hot Water, and pluck off the skin, dry them very well with a clean Cloth, when you have so done, take Lard, cut it in pieces as big as your little finger, and season it very well with Pepper, Cloves, Mace, Nutmeg, and Salt, put each of them into an earthen pot, put in a Pint of Clarret wine, a pound of Mutton Suet. So close it with Paft let the Oven be well heated, and so bake them, you must give them time for the baking according to the bignesse of the Haunches, and the thicknesse of the Pots, they commonly allot seven hours for the baking of them; let them stand three dayes, then take off their Cover, and pour away all the Liquor, then have clarified Butter, and fill up both the Pots, to keep it for the use, it will very well keep two or three months.

To roast a Pike.

Take a Pike, scoure off the slime, take out the Entralls, Lard it with the backs of Pickled Herrings, you must have a sharp Bodkin to make the holes, no Larding Pins will go thorow, then take some great Oysters, Claret Wine, season it with Pepper, Salt, and Nutmeg, stuff the belly of the Pike with these Oysters, intermix with them Rosemary, Tyme, Winter-Savory, sweet Marjoram, a little Onyon and Garlick, sow these in the belly of the Pike, prepare two stucks about the Breadth of a Lath, these two sticks and the Spit must be as broad as the Pike being tyed on the Spit, tye the Pike on, winding Pack-thread about the Pike along, but there must be tyed by the the pack-thread all along the side of the pike which is not defended by the spit, and the Lathes Rosemary and Bayes, bait the pike with Butter and Clarret Wine, with some Anchovies dissolved in it, when it is wafted, rip up the the belly of the Pike, and the oyster will be the same, but the herbs which are whole must be taken out.

To sause Eele.

Take two or three great Eele, rubb them in salt, draw out the Guts, wash them very clean, cut them a thwart on both sides sound deep, and cut them again cross way, then cut them through in such pieces as you think fit, and put them into a dish with a pint of Wine vinegar, and a handful of salt, have a kettle over the fire with fair Water, and a bundle of sweet herbs, two or three great onions, some Mace, a few Cloves, you must let these lie in wine-vinegar and salt, and put them into boylinge liquor, there let them boyle according to Cookry, when enough take out the Eele, and drain them from the Liquor, when they are cold, take a pint of white wine, boyle it up with saffron to colour the wine, then take out some of the Liquor, & put it in an earthen pan.
pan take out the onyons & all the herbs, only let the cloves and mace remaine, you must beat the saffron to powder, or else it will not colour.

To make Sausages without skins.

Take a leg of young pork, two pound of Beef-suet, two handfuls of Sage, two loaves of white bread, salt and pepper to your tast, halfe the pork, and half the suet must be very well beat in a stone Morter, the rest cut very small, be sure to cut out all the greases and Lenets in the pork, when you have mixed these altogether, knead them into a stiffe paste with the yolks of two or three Eggs, so rowle them into sausages.

To dresse a Pike.

Take a Male Pike, rub his skin off whilst he lives with bay salt, having well cleared the out side, lay him in a large Dish or Tray, open him so as you break not his gawle, cut him according to the size of the fish in two or three pieces, from the head to the taile must be slit, this done, they are to be layd as flat as you can in a great Dish or Tray, poure upon it halfe a pint of white Wine Vinegar, more or leffe, according to the size of
of the Fish, then strew upon the inside of the Fish, white Salt plentifully, Bay salt beaten very small is better, while this is a doing, let a Skillet with a sufficient quantity of Renish Wine or good white Wine be put over the fire, with the Wine, Salt, Ginger Nutmeg, an Onion, four or five Cloves of Garlicke, a bunch of sweet Herbs, viz. Sweet Marjoram, Rosemary, peel of half a Lemon, let these boil to the height, put in the Pike, with the Vinegar, in such manner as not to quench or allay, if possibly the heat of the Liquor but the thickest piece first that well asketh most boiling, and the Vinegar last of all; while the Pike boil it, take two quarters of a pound of Anchovies, one quarter of very good butter, a Saucer of the Liquor your Pike was boiled in, dissolved Anchovies. Note that the Liquor, Sauce, the Spice, and the other ingredients must follow the proportion of the pike; if your Sauce be too strong of the Anchovies, add more faire water to it. Note also that the Liquor wherein this Pike was dressed, is better to boyle a second Pike therein, then it was at the first.
To dress Eeles.

Cut two or three Eeles into pieces of a convenient length, set them end ways in a pot of Earth, put in a spoonful or two of Water, and to them put some Herbs and Sage chopt small, some Garlick, Pepper and Salt, so let them be baked in an Oven.

To Boyle a pudding after the French fashion.

Take a Turkey that is very fat, and being pul’d and dress’d, Lard him with long pieces of Lard, first whole’d in seasoning of Salt, Pepper, Nutmegs, Cloves and Mace, then take one piece of Lard whole in the seasoning, put it into the belly with a sprig of Rosemary and Bayes, sow it very close in a clean cloth, and let it lye all night covered with white Wine, let it be put into a pot with the same Liquor and no more, let it be close stopp’d, then hang it over a very soft and gentle fire, there to continue six hours in a simmering Boyle, when it is cold take it out of the Cloth, not before, put it in a Pye plate, and stick it full of Rosemary Rosemary and Bayes, so serve it up with mustard and sugar, they are wont to lay it on a napkin folded square, and lay it cornerwise.

To make a Fricake.

Take three Chickens, and pull off the skins, and cut them into little pieces, then put them into water with two or three onions, and a bunch of parsley, and when it hath stewed a little, put in some salt and pepper, and a pint of white wine, so let them stew till they be enough, then take some Verjuyce, and Nutmegs, and three or four yelkes of Eggs, beat them well together, and when you take off the Chickens, put them into a frying pan altogether with some butter, scald it well over the fire and serve it in.
To make a Dish called Olaves.

Take a fillet of Veale, and the flesh from the bones, and the fat and skin from either, cut it into very thin slices, beat them with the back of your Knife, lay them abroad on a Dish, season them with Nutmeg, Pepper, Salt and sugar, chop halfe a pound of Beefe Suet very small, and strew upon the top of the meat, then take a good handful of herbs as Parsly, Time, Winter Savoury, Sorrell, and Spinage, chop them very small, and strew over it, and four Egges with the whites, mingle all these well together with your hands, then roll it up piece by piece, put it upon the spit, roasting it an hour and half, and if it grow dry, baste it with a little sweet Butter, the sauce is Vervivace or Clarret wine with the Gravy of the meat and sugar, take a whole Onyon and stew it on a chaising dish of coales and when it tastes of the Onyon, pour the liquor from it on the meat, setting it a while on the coales, and serve it in.
To make an Olave Pye.

This you may take in a Pye, putting Railsins of the Sun floured, and some Currants in every Olave, first throwing upon the meat the whites and yolkes of two boyled Eggs shred very small, make you Olaves round, and put them into puff paste, when it is halfe baked, put in a good quantity of verjuyce or Claret wine sweetened with Sugar, putting it in again till it be thorow backed.

The Countesse of Rutlands Receipt of making the rare Banbury Cake which was so much praised at her Daughters (the Right Honorable the Lady Chatworths) wedding.

Imprimis

Take a peck of fine flower, and halfe an an ounce of large Mace, halfe an ounce of Nutmegges, and halfe an ounce of Cinnamon, your Cinnamon and Nutmegges must be sifted through a Sieve, two pounds of Butter, halfe a score of Eggs, put out four of the whites of them, some something above a pint of good Ale yest, beate your Eggs very well and straine them with your yest, and a little warme water into your flower, and stirre them together, then put your butter cold in little Lumpes: The water you knead withall must be scalding hot if you will make it good past, the which having done, lay the past to rise in a warme Cloth a quarter of an houre, or thereupon; Then put in ten pounds of currants, and a little Muske and Amber-greece dissolved in Rosewater, your currants must be made very dry, or else they will make your Cake heavy, strew as much Sugar finely beaten amongst the Currens, as you shall thinke the water hath taken away the sweetnesse from them, break your past into little pieces, into a kimmel or such like thing, and lay a layer of past broken into little pieces, and a layer of currants, until your currants are all put in, mingle the past and the currants very well, but take heed of breaking the currants, you must take out a piece of past after it hath risen in a warme cloath before you put in the currants to cover the top, and the bottom, you must role the cover something thing thin, and the bottom likewise, and wet it with Rosewater, and close them at the bottom of the side or the middle which you like best, prick the top and the sides with a small long Pin, when your Cake is ready to go into the Oven, cut it in the midst of the side round about with a knife an inch deep, if your Cake be of a pecke of Meale it must stand two hours in the Oven, your Oven must be as hot as for Manchet.

An excellent Sillabub.

Fill your Sillabub pot with Syder (for that is the best for a Sillabub) and good store of Sugar and a little Nutmeg; stir it well together, put in as much thick Cream by two or three spoofuls at a time, as hard as you can, as though you milke it in, then stir it together exceeding softly once about, and let it stand two hours at least ere it is eaten, for the standing makes the Curd.
To Sauce a Pig.

Take a faire large Pigge and cut off his Head, then slit him thorow the midst then take forth his bones, then lay him in warme water one night, then Collar him up like Brawne; then boyle him tender in faire water, and when he is boyled put him in an earthen Pot or Pan into Water and Salt, for that will make him white, and season the flesh, for you must not put Salt in the boyling, for that will make it black, then take a quart of the same broth, and a quart of white wine; boyl them together to make some drink for it, put into it two or three Bay leaves, when it is cold uncloath the Pig, and put it into the same drink & it will continue a quarter of a year. It is a necessary Dish in any Gentlemans House; when you serve it in, serve it with greene Fennell, as you doe Sturgeon with Vinegar in Saucers.

To make a Virginia Trout.

Take Pickled Herrings, cut off their Heads, and lay the bodies two dayes and nights in water, then wash them well, then
The Compleat Cook.

then season them with Mace, Cinnamon, Cloves, Pepper, and a little red saunders, then lay them close in a pot with a little onion strewed small upon them, and cast between every Layer; when you have thus done, put in a pint of Clarret wine to them, and cover them with a double paper tied on the pot, and set them in the oven with household bread. They are to be eaten cold.

To make a fat Lambe of a Pig.

Take a fat Pig and scald him, and cut off his head, slit him and truss him up like a Lamb, then being slit through the middle, and flayed, then parboyle him a little, then draw him with parsley as you do a Lamb, then roast it and dredge it, and serve it up with butter, pepper, and Sugar.

To make Rice Pancakes.

Take a pound of Rice, and boyle it in three quarts of water till it be very tender, then put it into a pot covered close, and that will make a Jelly, then take a quart of Cream or new Milke, put
The compleat Cook.
put it scalding hot to the Rice, then take twenty Eggs, three quarters of a pound of melted butter, a little salt, stirre all these well together, put as much flour to them as will make them hold frying, they must be fryed with Butter, they must be made over night, best.

Mrs. Dukes Cake.

Take a quarter of a peck of the finest flour, a pint of Cream, ten yolks of Eggs well beaten, three quarters of a pound of butter gently melted, pour on the flour a little Ale yeft, a quarter of a pint of Rose water, with some Muske; and Ambergreece dissolved in it, season all with a penny worth of Mace and Cloves, a little Nutmeg finely beaten, Currans one pound and a halfe, Raisins of the sun floned, and shred small one pound, Almonds blanch'd and beaten, halfe a pound, beat them with Rosewater to keep them from Oyling: Sugar beaten very small, half a pound; first mingle them, knead all these together, then let them lie a full houre in the Dough together, then the Oven being made ready, make up your Cake, let not the Oven be too hot, nor shut up the mouth of it too close.
close, but stir the Cake now and then that it may bake all alike, let it not stand a full houre in the Oven. Against you draw it have some Rosewater and Sugar finely beaten, and well mixed together to wash the upper side of it, then set it in the Oven to dry, when you draw it out, it will shew like Ice.

To make fine Pancakes fried without Butter, or Lard.

Take a pint of Creame, six new layd Eggs, beat them very well, put in a quarter of a pound of Sugar, one Nutmeg or beaten Mace which you please, as much flower as will thicken them almost as thick as for ordinary Pancakes, your Pan must be cleane wiped with a Cloth, when it is reasonably hot, put in your Butter, or thick or thin as you please, to fry them.

To pot Venison.

Take a haunch of Venison not hunted, and bone it, then take three ounces of Pepper beaten, twelve Nutmegs, with a handful of Salt, and mince them together with Wine Vinegar, then wet your Venison with Wine Vinegar and season it it, then with a knife make holes on the lean sides of the Hanch, and stuff it as you would stuff Beef with Parsley, then put it into the Pot with the fat side downward, then clarifie three Pound of Butter, and put it thereon, and Past upon the Pot, and let it stand in the Oven five or six hours, then take it out, and with a vent press it down to the bottom of the Pot, and let it stand till it be cold, then take the Gravy of the top of the Pot and melt it, and boyle it half away and more, then put it in again with the Buter on the top of the Pot.

To make a Marchpan; to Ice him, &c.

Take two pound of Almonds blanched, and beaten in a Stone Morter till they begin to come to a fine Pa$t, and take a pound of sifted Sugar, and put it in the Morter with the Almonds, and so leave it till it come to a perfect Pa$t, putting in now and then a Spoonfull of Rosewater to keep them from Oyling; when you have beaten them to a perfect Pa$t cover the Marchpan in a sheet, as big as a Charger, and set an edge about as
as you do about a Tart, and a bottome of wafers under him; thus bake it in an oven or baking pan, when you see your march-pan hard and dry, take it out and Ice him with Rosewater and sugar being made as thick as butter for Fritters; so spread it on him with a wing-fether; so put it into the Oven again, and when you see it rise high, then take it out and garnish it with some pretty conceits made part of the same stuff, stick long cumfers upright in him, so serve it.

To make Jelly the best manner.

Take a Leg of Veale, and pare away the fat as clean as you can, wash it thoroughly, let it lie soaking a quarter of an hour or more, provided you first break the bones, then take foure Calves feet, scald off the hair in bawling water, then slit them in two, and put them to your Veale, let them boyle over the fire in a brass pot, with two Gallons of water or more, according to the proportion of your Veal, scum it very clean and often; so let it boyle till it comes to three pintes or little more, then strain it through a cleane strainer, into a Basin
The Compleat Cook.

Bacon, and to let it stand till it be through cold and well jellied, then cut it in pieces with a Knife, and pare the top and the bottom of them, put it into a Skillet, take two ounces of Cinnamon broken very small with your hand, three Nutmegs sliced, one race of Ginger, a large Mace or two, a little quantity of Salt, one Spoonfull of Wine Vinegar, or Rose-Vinegar, one pound and three quarters of Sugar, a pint of Renish-wine, or white Wine, and the Whites of fifteen Eggs, well beaten; put all these to the Jelly, then set it on the fire, and let it seeth two or three wames, ever stirring it as it seeths; then take a very clean Jelly-bag, wash the bottom of it in a little Rose water, and wring it so hard that there remain none behind, put a branch of Romany in the bottom of the bag, hang it up before the fire over a Bacon, and pour the Jelly-bag into the Bacon, provided in any case you fill not the Bag, then take Jelly in the Bacon and put it into your bag again, let it run the second time and it will be very much the clearer; so you may put it into your Gally-pots or Glasses which you please, and let them a cooling on Bay salt, and when when it is cold and ripe you may use it at your pleasure, if you will have the jelly of a red colour use it as before, only instead of Renish wine use Clarret.

To make poor knights.

Cut two penny loaves in round slices, dip them in half a pint of Cream or faire water, then lay them a broad in a dish and beat three Eggs and grated Nutmegs and sugar, beat them with the Cream then melt some butter in a frying pan, and wet the sides of the toasts and lay them in on the wet side, then pour in the rest upon them, and so fry them, serve them in with Rosewater, sugar and butter.

To make Shrewsbury Cakes

Take two pound of flower dried in the Oven and weighed after it is dried, then put to it one pound of Butter that must be laid an hour or two in Rosewater, so done pour the Water from the Butter, and put the Butter to the flower with the yolks and whites or five Eggs, two races of Ginger, and three quarters of a pound of Sugar, a little salt, grate your spice and it well be the
The Compleat Cook.

the better, knead all these together till you may rowl the past, then rowl it forth with the top of a bowle, then prick them with a pen made of wood, or if you have a comb that hath not been used, that will do them quickly, and is best to that purpose, so bake them upon pye plates, but not too much in the Oven, for the heat of the plates will dry them very much, after they come forth of the Oven you may cut them without the bowles of what bignesse or what fashion you please.

To make beef like red Dear to be eaten cold.

Take a buttack of beef, cut it the long ways with the grain, beat it well with a rowling pin, then broyl it upon the coals, a little after it is cold, draw it throw with Lard, then lay in some white wine Vinegar, Pepper, Salt, Cloves, Mace and Bay-leaves, then let it lie three or four dayes, then bake it in Rye past, and when it is cold fill it up with butter, after a fortnight it will be eaten.
To make Puffs.

Take a pint of Cheese Curds and drain them dry, bruise them small with the hand, put in two handfuls of flower, a little Sugar, three or four yolks of Eggs, a little Nutmeg and Salt; mingle these together and make them little, like eyes, fry them in fresh butter, serve them up with fresh Butter and Sugar.

To make a Hash of Chickens.

Take six Chickens, quarter them, cover them almost with water, and season them with Pepper and Salt, and a good handful of minced Parsley, and a little white Wine, when they are boiled enough put six Eggs only the yolks, put to them a little Nutmeg and Vinegar, give them a little water or two with the Chickens, pour them altogether into the Dish and serve them in, when you put on the Eggs, and a good piece of Butter.

To make an Almond Caudle.

Take three pints of Ale, boyle it with Cloves, Mace, and sliced Bread into it, then have ready beaten a pound of blanched Almonds stumped in a Mortar with a little white Wine, then strain them out with a pint of white Wine, thicke your Ale with it, sweeten it as you please, and be sure you skim the Ale well when it boyles.

To make scalding Cheese towards the latter end of May.

Take your Evening Milke and put it into Boules, or Earthen Pans, then in the Morning, fleet off the Creame in a boule by it selfe, put the fleet Milke into a Tub with the Morning Milke, then put in the nights Creame, and stir it together, and heat the Milke, and put in the Rennc, as for ordinary new Milke Cheese it is to be made thicke; when the Cheese is come, gather the Curd into a Cheese cloath, and set the Whey on the fire till it be seething hot, put the Cheese in a Cloath into a Killar that hath a waste in the bottome, and pour in the hot Whey, then let out that, and put in more till your Curd feel hard, then breake the Curd with your hands as small as you can, and put an handful of Salt to it, then put it into the Fat, thrune it at noon and at night, and next day put it into into a Trough where Cheese is salted every day, and turne it as long as any will enter, then lay it on a Table or Shelve all Summer; if you will have it mellow to eat within an yeare, it must be laid in Hay in the Spring; if to keep two yeares, let it dry on a Shelve out of the Wind, all the next Summer, and in Winter lay them in Hay a while, or lay them close one to another; I seldom lay any in Hay, I turne and rub them with a rotten cloth especially when they are old once a week lest they rot.

To pickle Purslaine.

Take Purslaine, stalks and all, Boyle them tender in faire Water, then lay them drying upon linnen Clothes, then being dryed, put them into the Galley-pots and cover them with wine Vinegar mixt with Salt, and not make the Pickle too strong as for Cucumbers.
