

The First Aid Nurses' Yeomanry Corps ready for business in the trenches of Northern France.

Woman, Too, Has Her Place in the Trenches. She Can Fight and Heal.

English women of wealth are caring for the babies whose mothers are dead and whose fathers are fighting. One of the comforts supplied for Tommy Atkins by women — a coffee stall for the front.

This Russian woman fought as a soldier in the Czar's ranks until her capture by the Germans.

These Scotch nurses shared in the rigors and sufferings of the Serbian army's retreat.

The railroad laundry of some of the English nurses who escaped with the remnant of the Serbian army.