

Juanita Hansen, who beautifies the movies via the Fox route.

With the Approach of Autumn the Rialto Again Comes Into Its Own.

Marjorie Rambeau, the magician of "Cheating Cheaters," who turns a perfectly bad crook into a perfectly good detective. Photo by Saronu.

Richard Walton Tully's play, "The Flame," just opened at the Lyric Theatre, has Violet Heming in a leading role. Photo by Saronu.

They call Marion Davies "the prettiest girl in the Follies. Judge for yourself. Photo by Ira L. Hill.

June Caprice has golden hair, a pearly smile and a silvery voice. William Fox uses all but the voice in the movies.

Peggy O'Neil, who helps "The Flame" burn brightly at the Lyric. Photo by Saronu.