HAVE you a tennis-court,—with an ugly enclosure that you and your friends have taken for granted? One look at this picture, showing how to camouflage a wire backdrop with climbing roses—and you should first admire, then envy, then feel ashamed—then, we hope, resolve to go and do likewise! Or, if you prefer, ask us to come and do it for you. The beauty of this miniature Niagara of gorgeous color defies description. It'll be the talk of the neighborhood—and not for just one brief season, either, for once properly planted, these trailing rose clusters require no tender care or constant expense, but on the contrary "support themselves" and grow wondrously in beauty from year to year. If you have a sloping bank, a retaining wall or terrace, a bare fence—any similar "problem"—tell us about it quick, and let's conspire to smother it in radiant rosy beauty.
