

The vast demonstration in London which greeted Harry Hawker (upper insert) and Mackenzie Grieve (lower insert), driving through the streets to the music of the Australian band after their rescue at sea. (Left)—Mrs. Hawker and Miss Pamela have a private celebration of their own, waving the Union Jack, after receiving the good news of Hawker's safety. (Below, left)—The remains of the Sopwith plane in which Hawker and Grieve made their gallant attempt to fly the Atlantic, salvaged by the U. S. S. Lake Charlottesville.

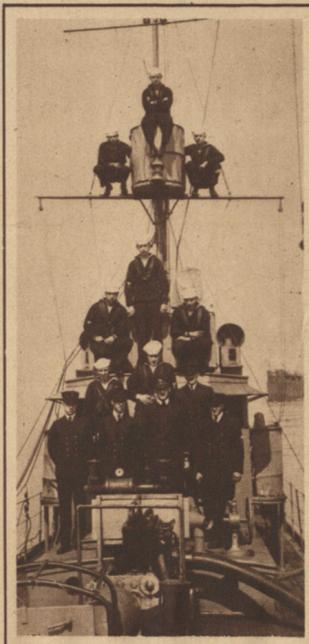

A cheerful (?) group from the German delegation at Versailles: Herr Leinert, President of the Prussia; Carl Melchior, financial expert; Herr Geisberts, Minister of Posts; Count Brockdorff-Rantzau, Foreign Minister of the delegation; Dr. Landsberg, Minister of Justice; Professor Schucking, authority on international law.

(Left) represents Boy Scouts presents Gillette at the Capitol their anniversary is to be progress.

(Right) for honor show of Corps, U. S. occupation, many, nag run doughboy judged a tenant an

The crew of the navy's submarine chaser fire department of the waterfront at the U. S. Embarkation Camp at Brest, which has saved Uncle Sam many a costly fire among the wharves and the army warehouses. I. F. S.

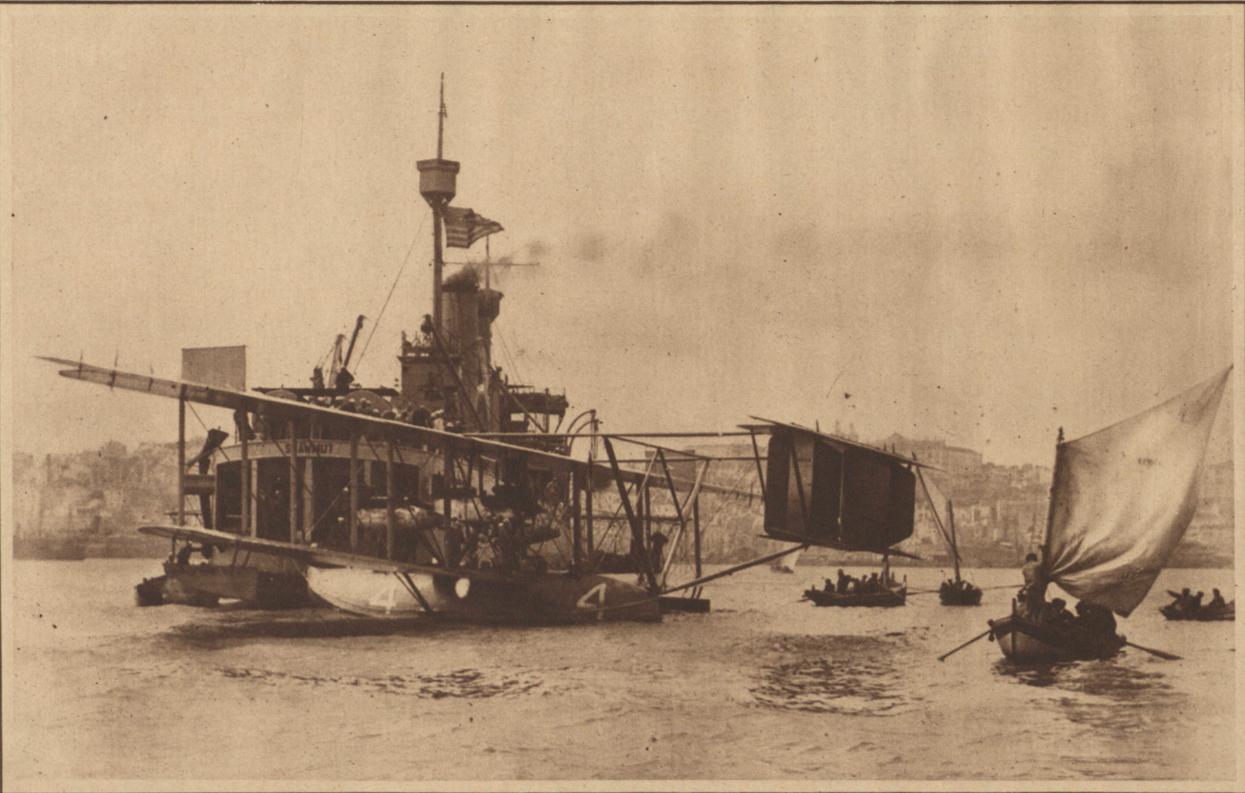

Sergt. Alvin York, greatest of Yank heroes, greets his mother at their mountain home in Tennessee. Many notables attended Sergt. York's recent marriage to his boyhood sweetheart. Underwood

An old and ragged woman at Pirot, Serbia, survivor of the hardships of the war, receives her allowance of rice from the American Red Cross—the only barrier between her and starvation. I. F. S.

Armenian women in an American refuge victims of the Turk's barbarity. The branding—the Turk's sign of ownership.

(Left)—The NC-4 in the quaint Portuguese harbor of Lisbon after her successful transatlantic flight, taking on supplies from the navy mother ship Shawmut before the final leg of her aerial voyage to Plymouth, England. I. F. S.

A unique open air garage on the roof of a story building, to which ice wagons are in elevators for overnight, after the day's of delivering frozen chunks of winter to York's apartment houses. Press Illustration