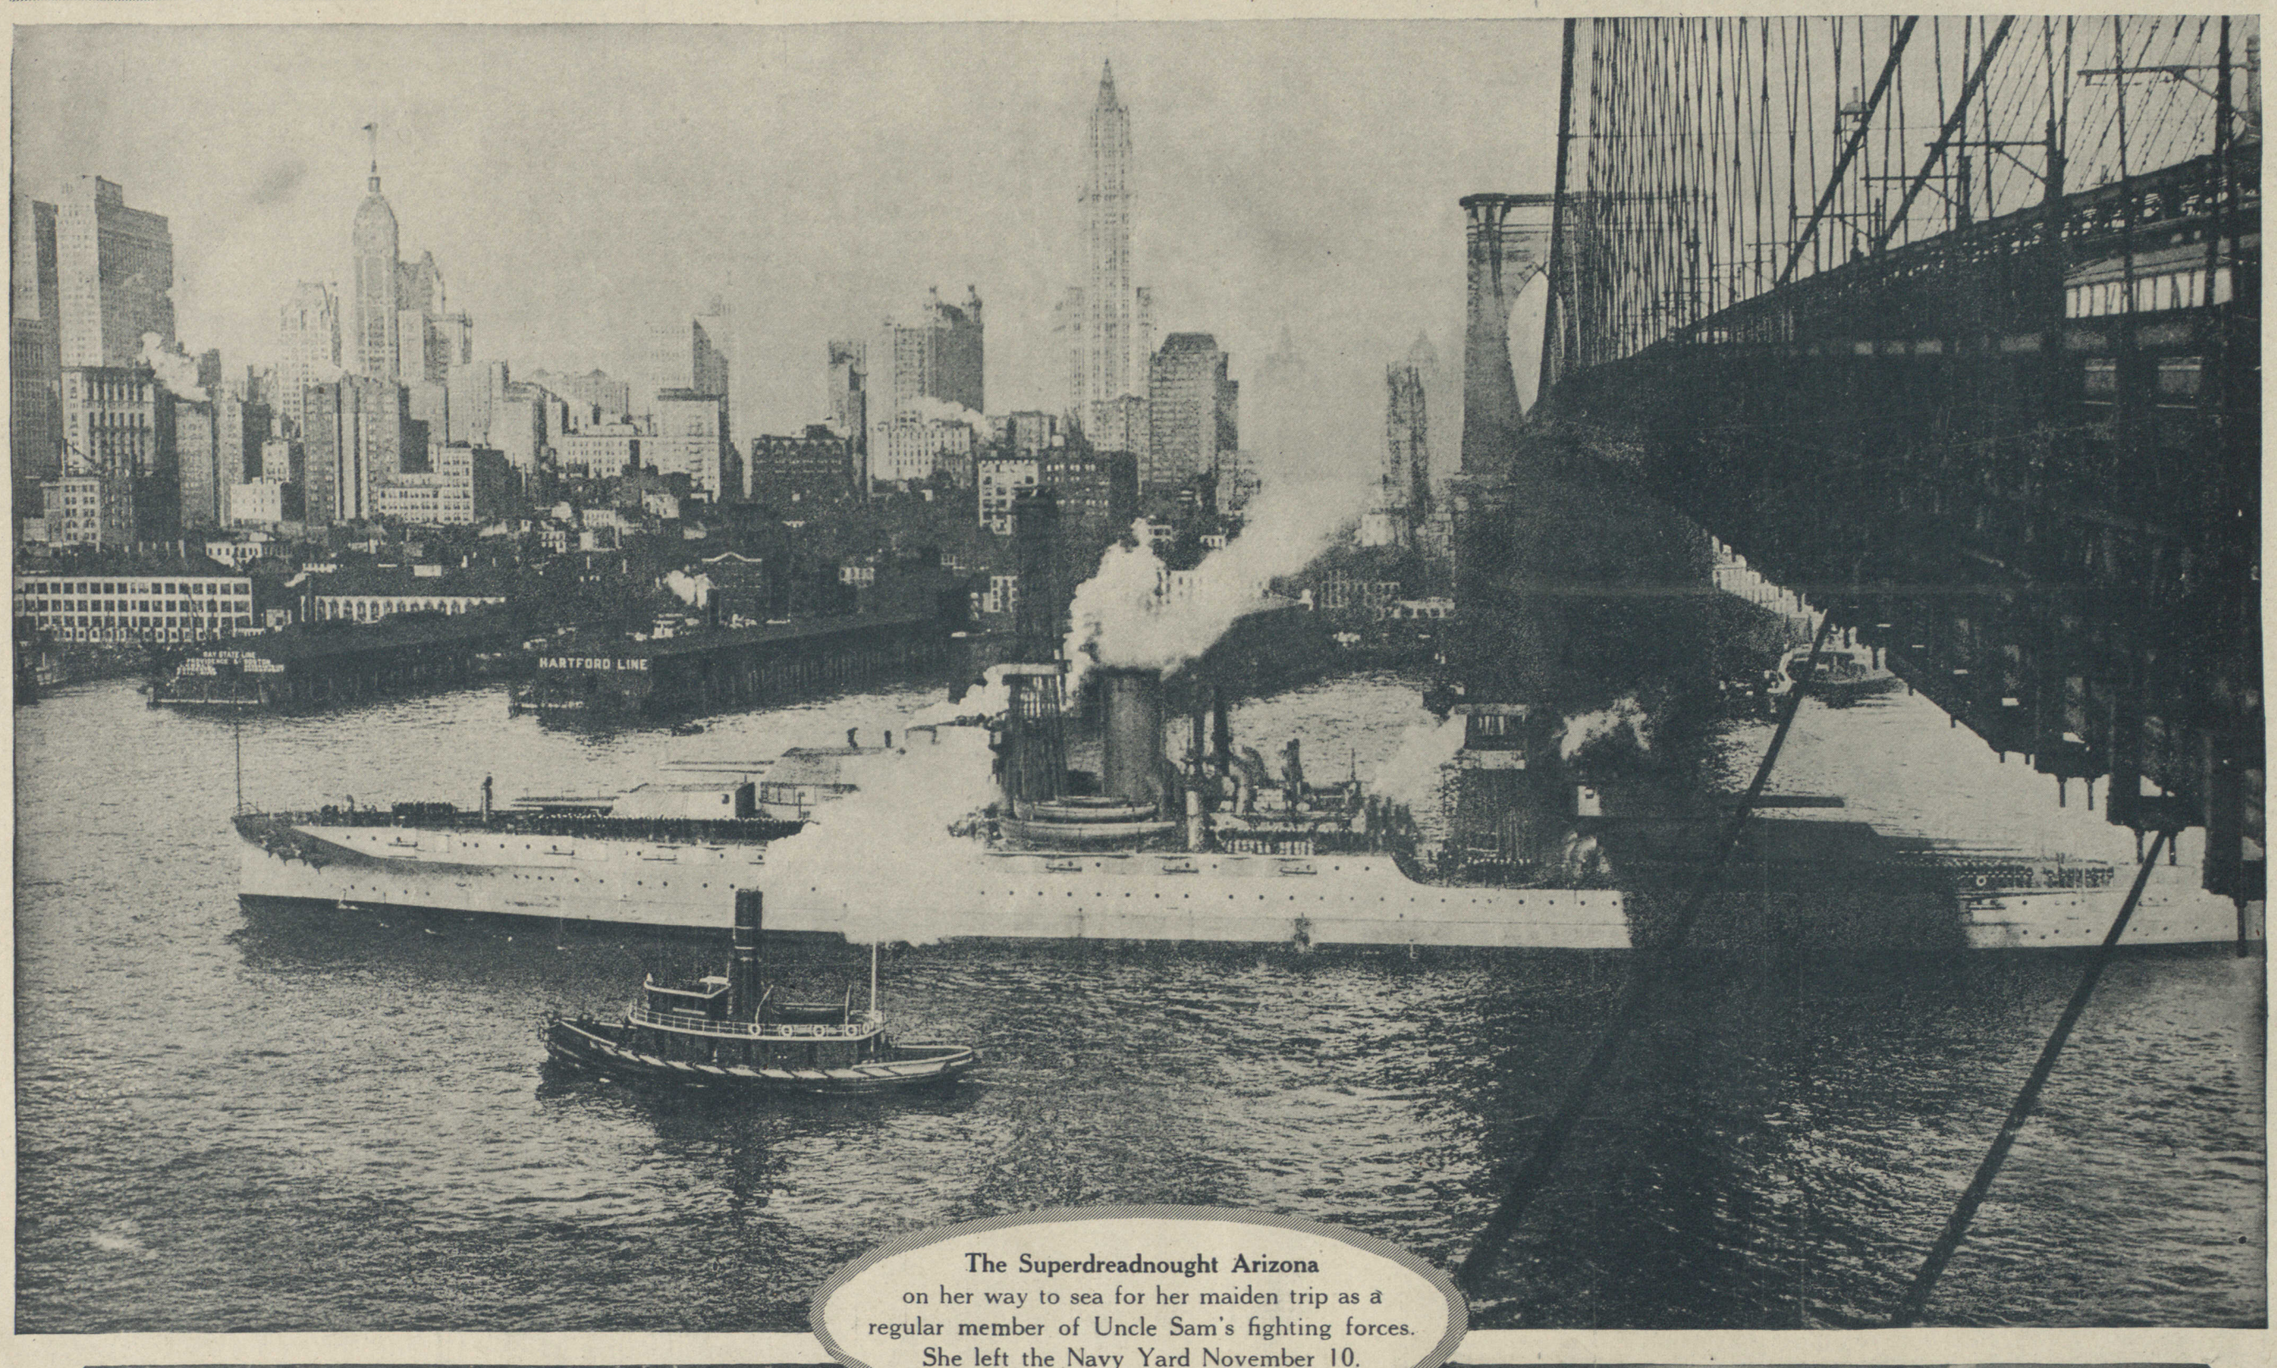
PART SIX
NEW YORK TRIBUNE

The Tribune Graphic

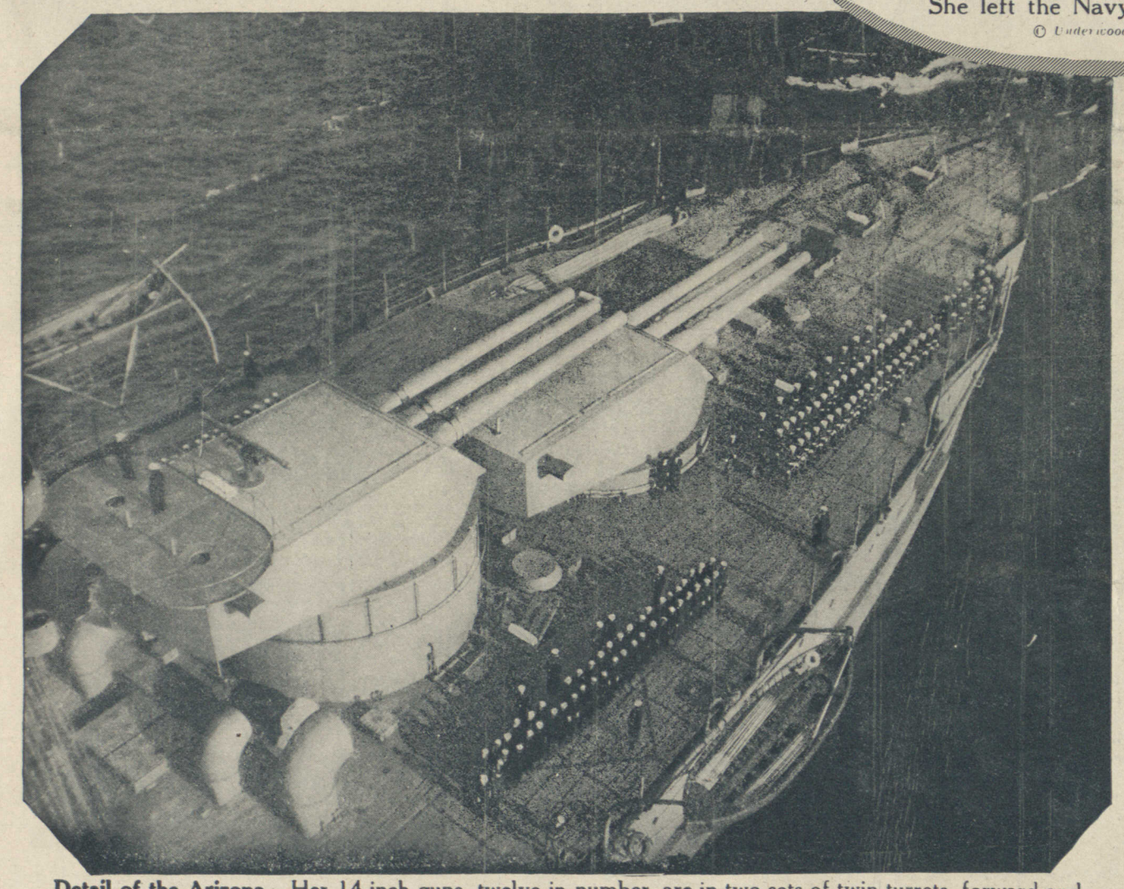
Section Two

SUNDAY
NOVEMBER 19, 1916



The Superdreadnought Arizona on her way to sea for her maiden trip as a regular member of Uncle Sam's fighting forces. She left the Navy Yard November 10.

© Underwood & Underwood.



Detail of the Arizona—Her 14-inch guns, twelve in number, are in two sets of twin turrets, forward and aft. Photographed as the big fighter passed under Brooklyn Bridge. Central News Photo Service.

A Soft Snap for the Sailors—A new method of "coaling" ship is a feature of the Arizona. She burns oil, and her tanks are filled thus. On deck just before sailing. Photo by Sussman.

Boston's Car Tomb—Forty persons were drowned when this car ran into an open draw over the harbor.

© International Film Service

The President at Williamstown, Mass., just after learning of his re-election. He and Mrs. Wilson are on their way to the Sayre christening. © International