

Nazimova is once more playing Ibsen rôles on Broadway
Photo © Maurice Goldberg

L LAMA KOATS are made from the fleece of the Llama—a camel-like animal found only in the Andes Mountains of South America. To protect the Llama from the cold winds and snow, nature provides it with an abundant coat of fawn-colored fleece, very thick and soft and from eight to ten inches long.

Can you imagine a finer overcoating material for man than that with which nature has furnished the hardy Llama? A most practical warmth-without-weight overcoating introduced by the House of Kuppenheimer and already one of the most dominant and smartest novelties of the season. In twelve color suggestions. Price $40.

Brill Brothers

44 East 14th St. Broadway at 49th St. 47 Cortlandt St. 2 Flatbush Ave.,
279 Broadway 1456 B'way at 42d St. 125th St. at 3d Ave. Brooklyn

Julia Bruns, who plays the feline leading woman of "the movie company" in the Hattons' comedy of the movies, "The Squab Farm"
© Arnold Genthe

A new photograph of Geraldine Farrar as Carmen
© Victor Georg