
SOLDIERS' AND SAILORS' CLUB AT NEW ROCHELLE

Watching the billiard game are some of the people who started the club: Mr. Reed, executive secretary of the club, Mr. E. Irving Hansen, chairman, Mr. Augustus Thomas and Mayor Waldorf, New Rochelle.

© Underwood & Underwood.

Canteen run by the Red Cross.

© Underwood & Underwood.

O. P. Heggie as Shylock and Laurette Taylor as Portia in scenes from "The Merchant of Venice."

Photo, White.

The Girl (Lillian Gish), rather than be captured by the Germans, begs her lover (Robert Harron) to kill her—in D. W. Griffith's new film, "Hearts of the World."

Photo. Stagg.

Oh, it's good to be "Fancy Free," and it's better still to be Marilynn Miller, who trips through this melodious comedy in a Marguerite frock of pussy willow silk.

Photo, Lewis-Smith.

The very spirit of youth has been caught and sartorialized into this afternoon frock of pink Van Raalte net and pink ribbon shown at the Fashion Show of the Fashion Art League of America.

Photo, Lewis-Smith.

To create an evening gown for war times that is formal and yet sufficiently informal to be characteristic of the times is an achievement of the Fashion Art League of America at their recent Fashion Show. Of Van Raalte net—it's service is thus assured—it is touched up in black and gold brocaded ribbon.

Photo, Lewis-Smith.

In this picture Sue MacManamy looks little like a German spy; nevertheless, that is the part she plays in "An American Ace," Lincoln J. Carter's new war play.

Anna Frances Levins.