

A Personal Introduction to one of America's Foremost Home Furnishers

The little card you see above, when signed by your local furniture dealer, will admit you to one of America's Greatest Wholesale Home-furnishing Exhibits.

Furthermore, the card gives you the privilege of selecting any furnishings you wish, and having them delivered through the dealer who gives you the card.

There are many advantages in this new co-operative, furniture buying plan. First, you have the opportunity of choosing your furniture, rugs and other furnishings from the enormous sample stock at a National Wholesale House where there is much greater variety than most local retail dealers can show. Second, you are really purchasing through your home dealer, whom you naturally wish to have your order.

Homes tastefully furnished throughout with Peck & Hills Furniture and Home Furnishings are clothed with an individuality which people of culture are quick to appreciate.

Peck & Hills Furniture includes everything required for the complete furnishing of a cottage, bungalow, apartment or mansion. The quality is always highest standard—the prices are always as low as the quality justifies. And you have back of you the 22-year-old reputation of a Nationally known organization.

Call on your local dealer to-day and inspect his P. & H. assortment. If he hasn't just the selections you want, ask him for a P. & H. Introduction Card, which will admit you to the great P. & H. wholesale exhibitions in New York, Chicago, Denver San Francisco or Los Angeles.

It will be a treat you will enjoy and decidedly profitable as well.

Nocturne

In the placid Summer midnight, under the drowsy sky, I seem to hear in the stillness the moths go glimmering by. One by one, from the windows the lights have all been sped. Never a blind is conscious—the street is asleep in bed!

But I come where a living casement laughs luminous and wide; I hear the song of a piano break in a sparkling tide; And I feel in the waltz that frolics and warbles swift and clear A sudden sense of shelter and friendliness and cheer.

A sense of tinkling glasses, of love and laughter and light— The piano stops, and the window stares blank out into the night. The light goes out, and I wander on to the murmuring sea, The happier for the melody that sings in the heart of me.

HOTEL BELLECLAIRE NEW YORK

Broadway at 77th St.
Surface Cars at Door
Subway at 79th St.

Only a few minutes from the Shopping and Theatrical District.

This is the last Sunday of the summer of 1918. It has been the best summer, in a business way, that the Belleclaire has ever experienced. It has been a great summer in many other respects. It has brought into business—into this hotel business, if you please—a newer, a better, a higher conception of one's duties and responsibilities. It seems so much easier for us who are associated in the direction of the Belleclaire to do the things that contribute so much to the comfort and happiness of our guests.

It is easier to smile. It is easier to be good-natured.

It is easier to be courteous. It is easier for us workers to pull together.

What is it, do you suppose, that is working inside of all of us to make us more friendly and more considerate and more helpful?

Whatever it is, it is all right. We Belleclaire workers are getting a great deal more contentment out of our work because we are doing better work.

Our guests come under the influence of the spell and so it is easier to maintain the Belleclaire as a home where congenial, happy people meet, and get good service and good food.

Robert D. Blackman, Proprietor.
