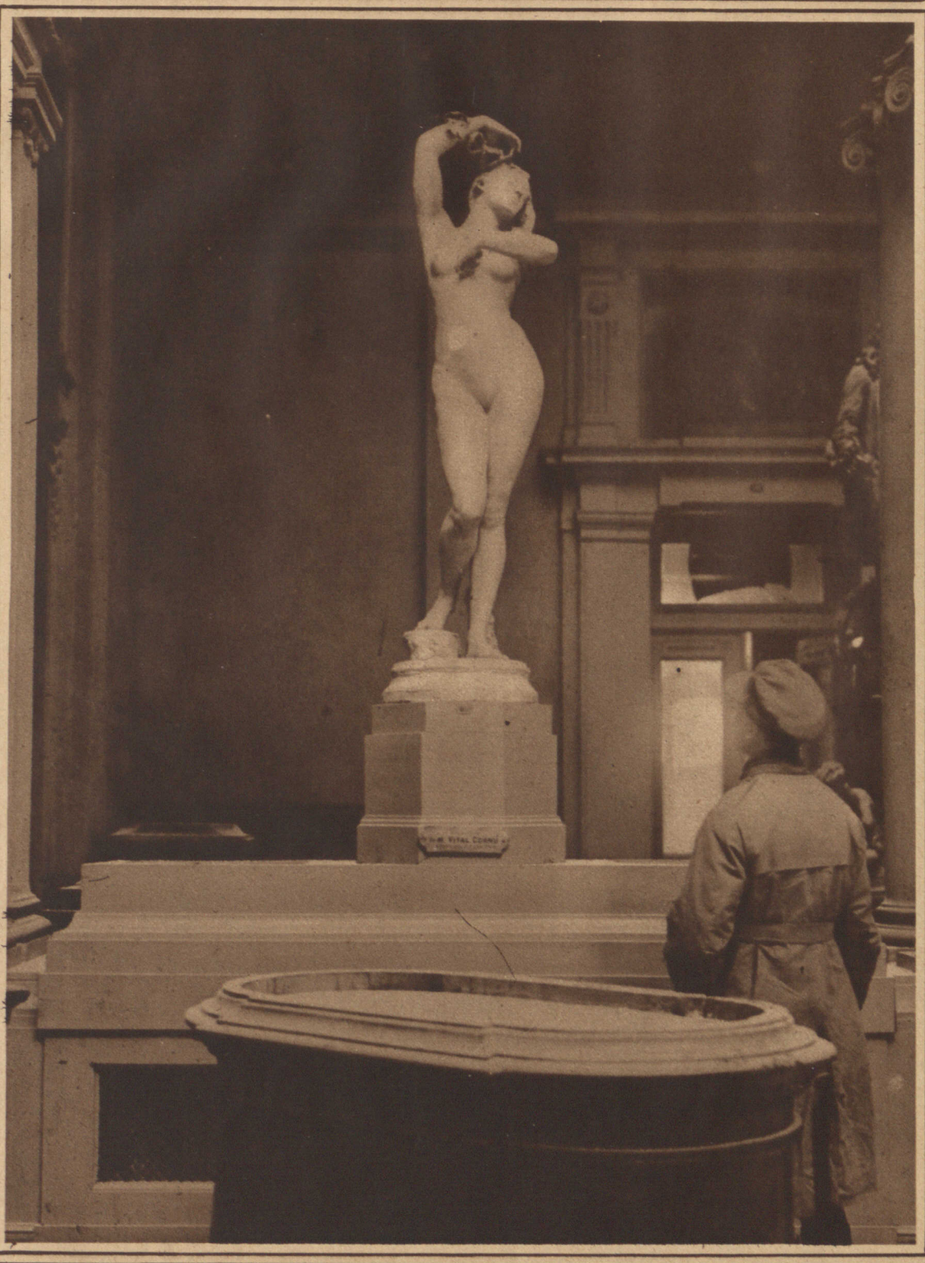
At Last the Government Lifts the Lid on Its Airplane Building
And it was the girls who inspired our boys to fly.
Central News Service.

The wings of the victors receive deft touches on bench and ironing board. Scenes in the naval aircraft factory, navy yard, Philadelphia.
Central News Service.

Notice the first white flag—A German car containing four German officers coming over after the armistice to show the Canadians the location of mines in the road.
Canadian Official. Western Newspaper Union.

Pointed reasons for the German defeat—A single bag of guns taken by the Canadians in the capture of Cambrai.
Canadian Official. Western Newspaper Union.



The only statue left by the Germans in Valenciennes—and that one wounded. The pictures and bronzes were all carted away. This lady was scorned because she was plaster. A fragment of shell has flicked the torso.
Canadian Official. Western Newspaper Union.

Tank technique: the crawl—Men of the 107th Infantry "siccing Tige" on a German machine gun nest. You can't see the bullets, but they were there.
© Committee on Public Information. Paul Thompson.