PREFACE.

The new edition of this work is the result of careful study on the part of the author, particularly with regard to the important subject of Deportment , a point so essential in order that properly graduated exercises be provided for the young,—fitted not only to promote health, but to give grace and elegance to their movements and perfect their entire deportment.

Library of Congress

The book is full of new and valuable observations on the position of the body and the importance of judicious practice; and includes the description of many new exercises.

It may not be without interest to our readers to give a short, sketch of the life of Coulon.

x

His father, Jean François Coulon, was the greatest and most celebrated professor of dancing known in France. His academy for the stage was the Pepinière (the nursery) for the most eminent artistes through Europe, and we require only to associate his name with that of Duper, Gosselin, and the family of Taglioni (as their master), to prove the superiority of his instruction. His academy for the drawing-room was also held in high reputation. It was the resort no less of strangers of distinction than of professors visiting Paris for the purpose of benefitting by the talent of this great master.

Jean François, the father, died in the year 1836, leaving two sons. The elder of these, Antoine Louis, fell a victim to the cholera in Paris, September 3, 1849. He was one of the first opera dancers in France and England, and for many years prior to his decease he filled, conjointly with Messrs. Laporte and Lumley, the important office of xi manager of the dancing at Her Majesty's Theatre.

The second son, Eugene, (the author of the subjoined work,) is well-known in England by his introduction of the Polka in April, 1844; of the Mazourka in December, 1844; and of the Redowa, in January, 1846. He was originally intended for the stage, but ill health obliged him, though reluctantly, to relinquish this higher and more interesting branch of his art, for the less arduous but perhaps not less useful one, of practical private teacher. Upon this new career he entered in 1830; shortly after which, an advantageous opening was made for him at the Hague as professor to the royal family of the Prince of Orange. Here he remained for nearly seven years, until the more advanced age of his pupils, the young princes and princesses, rendering his services as their instructor no longer requisite, he was persuaded by his brother, who was at that xii time residing in London, to join him there, that he might the more effectually assist towards establishing him permanently in a position which his talents and the superior training he had received so eminently qualified him to fill. It was not long before Eugene Coulon had obtained a firm footing in our great Metropolis. His judicious introduction of the Polka, and the energy with which he brought forward and maintained the Valse it Deux Temps, and the Santeuse (which is called in England the Valse à Trois Temps ) have contributed to raise his fame to the elevated point at which it now stands.

COULON'S HAND-BOOK.

THE POLKA.

“ What can be said about the Polka that has not already been said?” will be the probable exclamation of many under whose eyes this little Guide may fall. We reply, very little indeed if it were intended to retrace the origin and to relate the history down to the present day, of that dance now so generally practised in different countries of the globe. Whether the Polka be German or Hungarian by birth, is a question frequently discussed by writers on the subject. It has, in fact, during the last few 2 years, been so completely re-modelled in France that it may almost be said to have taken its rise there. All the violent gestures that characterised it, on its first appearance in France and England, have been abolished; the promenade by hand, and changing arms, the heel and toe, or double step, all these, which are very suitable perhaps for a national dance, or to express the rude mirth of the peasantry, have been substituted by a movement more in accordance with the rules of good taste, and more congenial to the quiet refinement of a ball-room. What this movement really is, and what are the rules for acquiring it, form part of the object which the author of this little volume has in view.

RULES FOR THE POLKA.

Library of Congress

The gentleman has to hold his partner as in the Waltz (see the position of the 3 Waltz, page 56). There is no rule respecting the direction in which the Polka should be performed. This is left to the option of the individual to decide. It may be danced to the right or to the left in turning, and backwards or forwards, likewise in turning; or in cases where there is not sufficient space to proceed, the Polka step and position may be preserved in making a kind of balancé or set. It is the part of the gentleman to guide the lady, and a good dancer is easily discerned by the skill which he shows in regulating his step and guiding his partner, so as to avoid other couples. In a room where four inferior couples would be limited for space, twenty good couples would dance with great ease.

THE POLKA STEP.

There are only three steps in the Polka, 4 which are all jumped, and occupy one bar of music, the fourth interval being only a repose to give time to prepare for the next foot.

To begin, the foot is raised a little behind, the gentleman using his left, the lady her right foot. The gentleman then, for the first step, springs lightly on the right foot, and almost simultaneously slides the left foot to the side, finishing on both feet, with the knees bent. For the second step he makes a jetté with the right foot, which brings the left foot extended to the left, and raised a little from the ground; for the third step he makes a jetté before with the left foot, and finishes with the right foot up, a little behind. Then, without stopping, he bends on the left foot, in order to employ the fourth interval of the bar, and proceeds in the same manner with the right foot. The lady does the same, only, as I have mentioned, beginning with her right foot.

This description of the Polka step may be danced either to the right or to the left. But when it is desired to go forward or backward, as well as in turning, it must be observed that the first step is taken backwards or forwards in the direction that is required.

The musical rhythm of the Polka may be explained thus:

THE NEW COTILLON.***

Introduced into London by Contort in the year 1844, (note of the publisher.)

The Cotillon is a dance that was known upwards of fifty years ago. It was danced by eight persons, like the French Quadrille, which, perhaps, owes its derivation to it. The new Cotillon was introduced in Germany and Russia some years ago, but it bears no resemblance whatever to the old or original Cotillon. It is danced in Germany with the Waltz step, and recently in Russia it has been introduced with the Mazurka step. But since the appearance of the Polka, the Polka Cotillon has eclipsed all former ones. I do not say in great balls of ceremony, faute de s'entendre (as I shall explain), but there is not a soirée d'intimes, where it is not adopted in preference to any other.

As the Polka Cotillon, therefore, is so much the mode, some remarks will be here given that will be found both necessary and useful.

RULES FOR THE COTILLON.***

Explanation of the signs:—Gentleman [???] Lady [???] Give hands...Figure—[???]

The Cotillon may be danced with the step of either the Waltz, the Polka, the Mazurka, the Valse à Deux Temps, or the Valse à Trois Temps, by an unlimited number of persons. When possible, chairs should be placed for the dancers round the room.

Each gentleman places his partner on his right hand. There is no rule that any particular figure shall be danced, nor is it intended that the figures here explained shall be danced in rotation. The selection is left to the determination of the leading couple who commence the figure, which the other couples repeat in succession. In large parties of twenty-four or thirty 8 couples, it is customary for two or more couples to perform the same figure at the same time, otherwise, the Cotillon might be tedious by its length.

Library of Congress

To preserve the regularity of the dance the same seat or place should be maintained by each individual throughout.

It must be well understood that in selecting partners for the figures hereafter explained, no previous introduction between the parties is requisite.* It is only necessary to present the hand to the lady or gentleman who is chosen to make up the figure, for them to rise immediately.

See Remarks on introductions (page 86)

One great interest of these figures is, that their constant variety enables each gentleman to dance with almost every lady.

The first couple start with the Polka or 9 Valse, and they are immediately followed by all the other couples. After one round the places are resumed, and what may be called the first figure is began.

FIRST FIGURE.

The leader selects two ladies, and his partner selects two gentlemen thus:

They advance, and each gentleman takes the lady opposite to him, and dances once or twice round the room with her, after which they return to their places. The next couple do after the same manner, and if, as I observed before, the Cotillon be a large one, two or more couples begin at the same time.

THE PYRAMID.

The first three couples begin with the Polka or Waltz round the room. The three ladies choose three other ladies, and the six ladies place themselves thus:

Library of Congress

The three gentlemen then select three other gentlemen and holding each others hands pass in zigzag form between the ladies; when on a signal given by the leader, each gentleman takes one of the ladies standing, and dances the Polka with her. When they have resumed their Seats the other three couples repeat the same figure, and so on till all the couples have danced it.

THE TWO FLOWERS.

The leader takes two ladies and asks them each to name a flower. He then presents them to one of the gentlemen desiring him to say which flower he prefers. When the gentleman has made his choice, he is presented with the lady, the name of whose flower he guessed, he dances with her, and the leader dances with the other lady round the room. The other couples perform the same figure in their turn.

THE GREAT ROUND AND PASS UNDER.

The first three couples dance one or two rounds of the Polka or Waltz, after which each lady selects a gentleman from among those seated, and each gentleman selects in like manner a lady. The six 12 couples dance a round or two, after which they form a circle holding hands.

They twice advance and retire, the second time the gentlemen take each other's hands in a circle, the ladies likewise holding hinds below the gentlemen's thus:

They dance in a circle once round to the left, when the leader breaks the circle, and falling backwards, they form a line, still holding hands.

13

The gentlemen then raise their arms for the ladies to pass under, which they do, and advance followed by the gentlemen to the end of the room, when the ladies turn half round and dance the Polka with the gentlemen facing them. When these couples have resumed their places the other three couples repeat the same figure, and so on for the rest.

Library of Congress

THE CUSHION.

The first lady presents a cushion to a gentleman, on which he is to kneel. If she wishes to dance with him, she allows him to kneel, but if not she takes it away quickly and presents it to another, and so on, until she selects one with whom she 14 dances, leaving the cushion meanwhile on the floor for the lady who follows her.

THE ROUND.

The first three couples begin with the Polka or Valse. After two or three rounds each gentleman takes another gentleman, and each lady takes another lady. The ladies place themselves back to back in a circle, and the gentlemen face them, joining hands to form a larger circle thus:

So placed, they advance and retire twice, 15 making the round larger and smaller, after which, each gentleman dances the Polka with the lady on his right hand, and so on for the other couples.

THE BASKET, RING & FLOWER.

The first couple waltz round the room, the gentleman holding in his hand a basket containing a ring and a flower. After dancing one or two rounds he presents the basket to his partner and returns to his place. The lady gives the basket to one gentleman, the ring to another, and the flower to a third. The gentleman who receives the basket must dance alone, holding it in his hand, the one who has the ring may choose a lady to dance with him, and the one who has the flower is to dance with the lady who presented it to him, thus:

Library of Congress

When they have danced several times round the room, they resume their seats, and the next couples continue.

THE TWO LINES OF SIX.

The first couple lead off with the Polka, The gentleman then chooses five other gentlemen, and the lady five other ladies, who all place themselves facing and holding hands. The gentlemen then advance with the Polka. during four bars, and retire during four bars, after which the 17 ladies advance four bars, turn hall round and go forward followed by the gentlemen. They turn half round again, and each lady dances with the gentleman who is behind her. When they have resumed their places the next couples begin.

THE COQUETTE.

The first couple dance a few rounds of the Polka or Valse, after which the gentleman leads his lady to a chair placed in the centre of tho room, and presents a gentleman to her to dance with. If she declines him, he has to stand behind her chair thus:

18

And she is presented with another by her partner until she accepts one with whom she dances several rounds. The rejected partners return to their seats. And so on for the next couples.

LA GRACIEUSE.

The leader gives his right hand to his partner, who gives her right hand to the lady next to her. The third lady gives her left hand to the gentleman on her left, and he gives his left hand to the gentleman on his left thus:

Library of Congress

They then form two circles at each end of the room and dance round with either the Polka or Valse. The lady No. 1, and the gentleman No. 3, pass under the arms of 19 the others and meet in the middle thus:

And all dance several rounds of the Polka or Valse: so on for the others.

THE MIRROR.

The first gentleman places his partner on a chair in the centre of the room, and gives her a mirror to hold. Then all the gentlemen pass one after the other behind her chair and shew themselves to her in the mirror, which she wipes with her 20 handkerchief when she does not accept the one she sees. When the favoured one presents himself, she rises and dances round the room with him; leaving the mirror on the chair. The name for the rest.

THE HANDKERCHIEF.

The first couple begin with the Polka or Valse. The lady then remains in the centre of the room, when the gentleman takes five other gentlemen with him, and forms a circle round the lady. She throws her handkerchief in the air, and the gentleman who is near enough to catch it becomes her partner, The other gentlemen return to their places. The remaining couples perform the same figure.

THE STAR.

The first three couples commence with the polka. The ladies select three other gentlemen and the gentlemen three other ladies. The six ladies place themselves in a moulinet right hands in the centre, giving the left hands to the gentlemen, and all turn thus:

Three of the ladies hold their hands little above those of the other three.

Library of Congress

At a given signal the three ladies who hold their hands above, leave the centre 22 and dance with their partners in the narrow space between each lady and gentleman. Meanwhile the three other couples continue to turn slowly one way and the other, still keeping in the centre of the star, changing from right hands to left thus:

After repeating this two or three times they finish with a round of the Polka, and return to their places. The same to be repeated by the rest.

THE CARDS.

The leading couple begin with the 23 Polka. The gentleman selects three knaves from a pack of cards, which he gives to three gentlemen and the lady selects three queens which she presents to three ladies. The three gentlemen then find the lady who has the queen of his suit, and dances with her. The other couples do the same.

THE DOUBLE MOULINET.

Three couples commence with the Polka or Valse. Each lady then selects another gentleman and each gentleman another lady, (from those seated.) The ladies join right hand in moulinet (or hands across,) giving the left to their partners. They all turn. At a signal the gentlemen pass their partners before them and take their places in the moulinet , and the ladies turn round the gentlemen on the other side thus:

24

Then when they meet their partners, the gentleman gives his left hand to the lady, who also gives her left hand, and they again turn hands across in moulinet , during which the gentlemen take their places outside. They repeat this each time they meet their partners, after which they return to their places in dancing either the Polka or Valse. The same for the remaining couples.

25

THE DECEIVED LADY.

The first couples commence with the Mazourka. The gentleman then asks the lady to dance with him. If when she rises, he does not intend to accept her, he turns away and asks another lady, and so on until he has made choice of one with whom he dances, leaving his own partner to dance with the partner of the lady he is engaged with. When they have danced several rounds they resume their seats, and the next couple commence.

THE QUADRILLE.

The first two couples commence with the Polka, then the two ladies select two other gentlemen, and the two gentlemen two other ladies. They place themselves as for a quadrille and the two side ladies join the top and bottom couples in giving 26 hands, they then advance by three and retire, this is repeated; after which the two ladies change places by passing under the arms of the others and join with the other gentlemen. This is repeated four times, when they finish by dancing the Polka round the room. The same for the rest.

THE TWO CHAIRS.

The first two couples commence with the Polka or Waltz. One of the gentlemen sits on one of the two chairs that are placed back to back in the centre of the room, and the lady of the other couple seats herself in the other chair. Then the gentleman partner of the seated lady selects two ladies, and the lady partner of the seated gentleman selects two gentlemen. These latter are presented to the lady seated on the chair thus:

27

She chooses one with whom she dances, and the one who is left dances with the lady who presented him. The same is repeated by the gentleman, after which they all dance a few rounds and return to their seats, and the couples begin.

THE ROUNDS MULTIPLIED.

Three couples commence with the Polka or Valse. Each lady takes another lady, and each gentleman takes another gentleman, and place themselves thus:

28

The first two gentlemen and ladies then give hands round and turn one round to the left, after which the two gentlemen pass under the ladies arms thus:

29

The same figure is repeated with the next two ladies, and the first two ladies repeat with the next two gentlemen thus:

30

They again repeat this figure and finish in a line, thus:

The ladies advance and turn half round and arrive, thus:

They then advance and turn half round to meet, and dance with the gentleman who has been following them, thus:

31

The same for the remaining couples.

THE LANCERS.

Place two chairs at the end of the room—The whole party, following each other, dance the Polka or Valse, passing between the two chairs, at which point the lady and gentleman separate, the one passing before the chair on the left, the other before the chair on the right, when they dance singly, forming two lines to the other end of the room, when the partners meet and dance together down again.

THE THREE CHAIRS.

The leading couple dance several rounds of the Polka or Valse. The gentleman then seats his partner on the middle chair of three that are placed in the centre of the room, after which he selects two gentlemen who occupy the other two chairs thus:

And he returns to his place. The lady chooses one of the two gentlemen and dances with him, the other gentleman remains sitting in the middle of the room. 33 The next couple begin immediately, while the former one is dancing. It will be understood that only one gentleman will be required to fill the vacant chair after the first time. If the same gentleman remains sitting for some length of time, one of the ladies who is not engaged with the figure, may relieve the monotony and dance with him.

N.B. Here are only 22 figures explained, but many more may be arranged from these.

NEW QUADRILLE MAZURKA.***

Introduced in London by Coulon, in the year 1846.

This new Quadrille is quite different from that one introduced in the year 1845, and is far superior to it in many respects. It may either be danced by two couples, or 34 by as many as the room will contain, in the same way as the first set, or the Quadrille Francais, which in many points it resembles. It lasts about ten minutes, and must of course, be danced with the steps of the Mazurka. One or two lessons will suffice for those who already have a knowledge of the style of the Mazurka, to be able to join in this New Quadrille. The steps of the Mazurka are the most important, and therefore, to those who are unacquainted with them, the following explanation of the figures will not be sufficient; but a few practical lessons will soon enable them to dance this Quadrille.

DESCRIPTION OF THE FIVE FIGURES INTRODUCTION.

Library of Congress

Wait eight bars—(place hands round.)

Grand round all to the left and to the 35 right—Sixteen bars.

Petit tour * forward and backward-Eight bars.

Petit tour is the same figure which was called Holubieck.

FIRST FIGURE.

Right and left (or chains Anglaise )—Eight bars.

Top and bottom couples advance, then the two ladies cross over, whilst the two gentlemen execute a quick turn, in giving each other the left arms by the elbows, and finishing back to places—Four bars.

Petit tour backward, with the opposite lady—Four bars.

Advance four, the two ladies cross over, whilst the gentlemen execute a quick turn in giving each other right arms—Four bars.

36

Petit tour forward with the opposite partner—Four bars.

Side couples repeat the same figure (which takes 32 bars.)

SECOND FIGURE.

Eight bars rest.*

There is no stop for the Music.

Library of Congress

Top and bottom gentlemen give right hands to their partners, then they advance and retire—Eight bars

Cross over by the left—Four bars.

Petit tour forward—Four bars.

Ditto to places.

Side couples repeat the same figure (which takes 32 bars.)

THIRD FIGURE.

Eight bars rest.

Top and bottom ladies cross over—Four bars.

37

Ladies cross again in giving each other left hand. They stop in the centre of the room. The Gentlemen give them right hands, and place the left round their waist—Four bars.

Cross over with partner—Four bars.

Petit tour backward—Four bars.

Hands across (or moulinet) one round-Six bars.

Retire to places—Two bars.

Same figure to places, without the hands across the second time.

Side couples repeat the same figure—(which takes 40 bars).

FOURTH FIGURE.

Eight bars rest.

Top gentleman gives his right hand to his partner, then they advance and retire—Eight bars.

38

Petit tour forward and backward-Eight bars.

They advance again, the gentleman turns half round without quitting his partner's hand and gives his left hand to the opposite lady, the two ladies join hands behind the gentleman, over his head—Four bars.

Advance and retire by three in this position—Eight bars—(then the gentleman stoops and passes under the ladies' arms)

One round to the left, at the end of which the opposite lady remains in her place—Four bars.

Forward to places, and petit tour forward —Eight bars.

Same figure for the opposite couple, which takes 40 bars.

Side couple repeat the same figure (which takes 80 bars).

39

FIFTH FIGURE.

Eight bars rest.

Half right and left, and petit tour backward—Eight bars.

Library of Congress

Ditto to places.

Hands four half round— Petit tour forward—Eight bars.

Ditto to places.

Right and left—Eight bars.

Petit tour forward and backward—Eight bars.

Side couples repeat the same figure (which takes 48 bars).

FINALE.

Grand round all to the left, and to the right—Sixteen bars.

Grand chain round—beginning in giving right hand to partner, petit tour to place additional—Sixteen bars.

Note .—If the Quadrille is composed of more than eight couples, the music is to play a few bars more to the end

40

THE REDOWA

The Redowa is a Waltz.* The simple and charming style of this dance secured a most complete success for it in Paris, when it was brought out there a few years ago. To those persons who are already acquainted with the other dances, the steps of the Redowa will not be found difficult to acquire.

Introduced in London in the year 1816 by Mr. Coulon.

EXPLANATION.

Library of Congress

The position for the Redowa is the same as for the Waltz (see page 56), and like as in the Polka the couples may turn either to the right or to the left, or go forward or backward.

The Redowa step is only a pas de basque . The rhythm of this Waltz is two in each bar.

41

The music is three time, like the Mazurka; the first of the two movements occupying two intervals of the bar, and the second movement occupying the third.

It should be observed to keep the knee bent to wait the first interval, and to mark well the second.

THE POLKA MAZURKA.

The Polka Mazurka is a Waltz danced by two. It is in great favour in Paris.

EXPLANATION.

The gentleman begins with the left, the lady with her right foot.

This Waltz is composed of two steps of the Polka, with this difference, that the last part of the first step is a fouetté behind (or a jump and pass the foot behind) after which it is the second step of the Polka, with the same foot as the first step. The first step is taken sideways, and the second in turning half round. The position is the same in the Waltz. (See page 56).

42

SCHOTTISCHE.

The Schottische was introduced in London shortly after the Polka, from which it originated: it is danced in couples, and the position is the same as for the Waltz. (See page 56.)

EXPLANATION OF THE STEPS.

The gentleman begins with the left, and the lady with the right foot.

Three pas marché (or walking steps) sideways, finishing with one foot up behind, then jump on the foot that is down. The same with the other foot.

Four times jetté forward, and jump on the foot which is down in turning one round.

Lately the Valse à Deux Temps has been introduced instead of the four jettés and jump, and it is far superior.

Some begin the Schottische with four steps of the gallopade, and then the four jettés and jump.

43

THE BALMORAL OR SCOTCH SCHOTTISCHE.

The Balmoral is danced by two persons like the Schottische .

EXPLANATION OF THE STEPS.

The gentleman begins with the left foot, the lady with the right, they then both touch the ground and spring with the toe in the second position, springing again, while the same foot is passed behind: then one step of the Schottische, this is to be done twice without turning. the same with the other foot, and eight times the second step of the Schottische.

LA CELLARIUS.

The Cellarius is a Waltz composed of three steps of the Mazurka. This dance 44 was composed by Monsieur Cellarius, in Paris, and introduced by me in London, at the Polish Ball, in the City, in 1844, having Mrs. Henderson for my partner. Since that time, it has been very much altered both as regards the time and the steps; so much so, that the original dance can scarcely be recognized. But I shall give a brief explanation of the steps for those persons who may be desirous to know what the original Cellarius was.

The premier pas or step consists of two movements—1st, of a temps levé , which occupies two-thirds of a bar, and of a sissonne , which should be well marked; the cavalier begins with his left foot forward, and the lady with her right forward.

The second pas or step consists of three movement—the 1st, by tapping together the heels, while off the ground; 2nd, 45 sliding one foot aside; 3rd, jeté de côté , at the same time tapping the heels together. This step is done two or four times in square of the room.

The third pas or step consists of font movements—1st, or one temps levé ; 2nd, a sissonne ; 3rd a temps levé ; 4th, a jeté de côté , at the same time tapping the heels.

Note .—The first step may be executed by turning à rebour , and in moving backwards. There is no fixed rule in dancing the different figures of this valse; the cavalier who knows how to vary them the oftenest will render the valse the most agreeable and the prettiest. The gentleman keeps his right arm round the lady's waist, as in the waltz, holding her right hand in his left.

COULON'S QUADRILLE.

This Quadrille is to be danced by four couples only, who place themselves in a square similar to the First Set.

The half of the music is to be played—that is, half the number of repetitions are required.

For those who are not joining in the Coulon's Quadrille, the common First Set may be danced by forming two lines, without either top or bottom couples.

All gallopade round to conclude.

PART II.

THE POLONAISE.

Library of Congress

This is the most stately of dances (or it may be called rather, a grand promenade). In all the aristocratic Courts, and, above all, in those of Northern Europe—from Vienna to St. Petersburgs—this is the prelude to the balls of the highest sphere of society, as it was to Her Majesty's Bal Costumé on the 6th of June, 1844, Whilst every costume is 51 in its freshness, and every plait of dress, and every lock of hair still retains the form most becoming to the wearer then, and not later, the Polonaise is danced. From its dignified measure none may abstain—from the King to the Ensign—from the youngest of belles to the oldest of the ancien régime of beaux. Then is the line formed for such a review as no field of battle can present—for all parties retire amidst the lustre of silks and satins and the brilliancy of gems and diamonds. At Her Majesty's fête the Polonaise first appeared in England, but now it will assume its place at all the great re-unions patronized by the noble leaders of fashion, whence it will travel into the provinces, to preface the race and the county bails.

To perform this promenading dance, all those who desire to engage in it, must assemble in the first drawing-room, and 52 then the Lady Patronesses, or in their absence, the Master of Ceremonies, assigns to each lady a cavalier—in a Bal Costumé, care being had that there be a perfect correspondence of costume betwixt the parties. Then the inspiring measure is struck up by the orchestra. The folding doors are thrown open and the assemblage of dancers make their entrée into the apartments, hand in hand, slowly marching, and conversing in an under tone—the ladies playing or coquetting with their fans or their bouquets. The march at Court is preceded by the Chamberlains—in other places by the Master of Ceremonies with their white staffs. Thus marshalled, the promenaders visit room after room—the beauties of the above are thus displayed, and still more advantageously those of the promenaders. Those who do not join in the march have their 53 full share of the enjoyment—for they behold to the best advantage all the marvels of the toilette and the grace and elegance of those who figure in this distinguished measure.

QUADRILLE FRANCAIS; OR, FIRST SET.***

See remarks on Introduction (page 86)

PRELIMINARY REMARKS.

Le Pantalon is performed twice, first by the top and bottom couples, and afterwards by the side couples.

L'Etè and la Poule are each danced four times. There is no fixed rule as to which lady begins.

La Trenis and La Pastourelle are like wise performed four times. Each couple at the top and bottom begin alternately. La Trenis and La Pastourelle are both No. 4, and only one is usually introduced in a Quadrille.

La finale is performed four times.

EXPLANATION OF THE FIRST SET.

I. Le Pantalon —right and left, set and turn partners, ladies chain, half proms. made, and half right and left.

II. L'Eté —Lady and opposite gentle. man advance and retire twice, cross over, advance and retire, re-cross, whilst partner set, and turn partners.

III. La Poule —Lady and opposite gentleman cross over, giving right hands, and re-cross giving left hands, Four in a line set, half promenade, advance and retire twice, four advance and retire, half right and left.

Library of Congress

IV. La Trènis—First couple advance and retire, advance again, the gentleman leaving his lady on the left of the gentleman opposite, and retires; the two ladies then cross over, and the gentleman crosses between them, the ladies and gentleman re-cross to their places and turn partners.

55

V. La Pastourelle—First couple advance and retire, advance again, the gentleman leaving his partner on the left side of the opposite gentleman and retires,* the three then advance and retire twice, the first gentleman advance and retire twice, hands four half round, and half right and left.

No. 4. New Pastourelle—The last part of this figure has been changed, and now the three advance and retire, but the ladies face the gentlemen to whom they give hands, they then advance again three together, and the two ladies turn half round and cross the room to join the other gentleman, they then advance and retire, advance again and turn half round, then all four join hands and turn half round, and right and left to their places.

VI. La Finale—Join hands all round, advance and retire twice, and l'Etè, or gallopade round, advance four and retire, Cross over, advance and retire, recross, and ladies chain.

THE WALTZ.

The Waltz, now called the common Waltz to distinguish it from the mere modern one called the Valse à deux Temps, has been known for many years, and is still danced at many balls where the aristocratic Valse à deux temps has not yet been introduced, and as it is probable that the old Waltz will retain its original position in the ball-room, a short description of it may prove useful.

POSITION OF THE WALTZ.*

Library of Congress

This position is the same for all Waltzes, the Polka, Redowa, Gallopade. &c,

57

In order to begin the Waltz, the gentle. man must hold and guide his partner with his right arm, well encircling her waist, and her right hand in his left. The gentleman when holding his partner's hand should keep his arm about the height of the waist gracefully extended. He should face the lady's right shoulder, having the body slightly bent forward, and the lady should keep her head opposite to her left hand, which should rest on the gentleman's shoulder.

DESCRIPTION OF THE COMMON WALTZ.

The common Waltz is composed of three steps half round, and three steps for the other half round, which takes two bars, The gentleman begins with the left foot one step to the left and two steps backward in turning one half round, he then begins with the right foot, three steps forward in turning the other half round. The lady has to do exactly the same, beginning with the right foot, which, in the first step she must place between her partners right and left foot. The gentleman must also place his right foot between the feet of his partner when beginning with the right foot, after which they waltz in constantly turning and following the couple before them.

LA SAUTEUSE. (THE HOP WALTZ.)

La Sauteuse is an old Waltz, revived in Paris and London, it occupies a prominent place among the dances of the higher circles, and is called the Waltz á trois temps .

59

The step is similar to that of the Common Waltz (see page 56) with this exception, that the first step must be jumped, like a jetté , and the other two run (or rather slidden).

Library of Congress

N.B. The steps of the Sauteuse are not unfrequently confounded with the second step of the Schottische. Care must be taken not to fall into this error as it would otherwise quite destroy the character and originality of the dance.

THE LANCERS.

1st. La Rose . The first lady and opposite gentleman advance and retire, turn with both hands and return to their places. The leading lady and her partner cross over hand in hand, and the opposite couple do the same separately and passing on the outside; they then all set and turn at the corners.

60

2nd. La Lodowiska . First couple advance and retire, advance again, the lady remains in the centre facing her partner, the gentleman retires, chassez to the right and left, turn partners to places, the side couples joining hands to form two lines, all advance and retire in two lines, all turn partners to places.

3rd. La Dorset . First lady advance and stop, opposite gentleman advance and stop, lady retire, four ladies right hands across half round, left hand and back to places while the gentlemen lead round outside to the right half round, and back to places.

4th. L' Etoile . First couple pay a visit to the couple on the right hand, and how; then to the couple on the left the same, chassez croissé and half set, chassez croissé and back to places, right and left.

5th. Les Lanciers . The grand chain, the first couple advance and turn half 61 round facing the top, then the couple on the right advance behind the top couples then the couple on the left follows and [he last couple the same forming two lines, chassez croissé with partners, and back again, the ladies turn outside the line to the rights the gentlemen the same to the left; the coupled meet up the centre and advance joining hands, the four ladies form a line holding each others hands, the gentlemen the same opposite, all advance and retire, turn partners to places, ditto for the other couple, finish with the grand chain.

N.B.—The new style of dancing the 3rd figure, ( La Dorset )

The four ladies advance and make a low and slow curtsey in the centre; they give right hands across and turn half round, left hands the same and finish at their places while the gentlemen lead outside to the right half round and back to places. The gentlemen advance, turn half round facing their partners and bow to each other and back to places. Ladies right and left hands across and back to places.

This figure is to be repeated.

THE SIXTEEN LANCERS.

The Sixteen Lancers is danced by eight couples placed as in the Double Quadrille. It is danced like the ordinary Lancers, with these few exceptions, viz:

In the first and second figures two couples begin.

In the third figure the eight Ladies advance and make a low and slow curtsey. While they give right and left hands across in the centre, the gentlemen form a circle outside holding hands, go half round and back again to places. The eight gentlemen advance, turn half round, facing their partners and bow to each other. They then in this position hook the arms together to form a circle, turn half round and back to places: during this time the ladies form circle outside holding hands, and go half round, and back to places.

This figure is to be repeated.

The fourth figure. Two couples start together.

Library of Congress

The fifth figure. The grand chain is continued until meeting partners they gallopade to places. Then two couples at opposite comers begin the figure.

64

LA TEMPÉTE.

La Tempête is danced by an unlimited number, accordingly four new comers can always form an additional line.

Fig. 1. Advance and retire twice in holding hands and forming two lines of four: thus

Fig. 2. Cross two by two sideways, each holding partner's hands, crossing two before the other two, and re-crossing to places. Repeat the same with the difference that the couples who passed before in the first crossing now pass behind the other couple: thus

SIR ROGER DE COVERLEY.

Library of Congress

Sir Roger de Coverley is a very ancient and merry dance for Christmas time, or at the end of a friendly party. It has lately been revived at her Majesty's bal costumé. It is danced like all country dances, the gentlemen in a line, and the ladies in another opposite to their partners. The first gentleman at the top and the lady at the bottom of the line have to begin each figure, and then the other gentleman and lady at the opposite corner have to repeat the figure immediately.

I. First lady and gentleman meet in the centre of the line, give right hands, turn once round, and retire to their corners, the same for the other two at the top and bottom.

II. First couple cross again and give left, hands and turn once; back to places.

68

To be repeated by the others.

III. First couple give both hands, the others the same.

IV. First couple back to back, and retire to places; the other corners the same.

V. The first couple advance, bow to each other, and retire; the same repeated by the other couples.

VI. The top gentleman then turns to the left, and the top lady (his partner) turns to the right; all the other ladies and gentlemen turn and follow the leaders who run outside of the line, and meet at the bottom of the room, giving right hands, and raising their arms so as to form a kind of arch under which all the following couples must pass, joining hands, and running forwards when they have all passed under the arch. The first lady and gentleman 69 remain the last at the end of the two lines, and the figures of right hands, left hands, both hands, back to back, bow, and running outside the lines are repeated by all, when the first couple will have arrived at their original place.

THE GALLOPADE.

The Gallopade has had a long reign, and is still in high favour in the ball. room. The Gallopade merely consists of a few steps of the galop and passes into the valse à deux temps . In this way the gallopade become a spirited and graceful dance instead of a tremendous rush. The seep of the gallopade is simply a chassé with one foot as long as you continue one way, and chassé with the other foot when you turn. The step of the gallopade 70 in turning is the same as the step of the valse à deux temps . (See page 71.)

SPANISH DANCE.

The couples are placed as for a country dance. To commence the figure, the lady and gentleman at the top change places, they then set to the second couple, and cross into their places, set to partners, cross over again to the other places, set to the second couple, and then to partners, all four join hands, advance, retire. The two gentlemen turn the ladies by the left hand in the centre and change places with each other, and finish in a round. Repeat this four times, then the two couples waltz round each other for four or eight bars, and the first couple repeat 71 peat the figure with the third couple, then with the fourth, and so on to the end of the line. When the first couple begins to dance with the fifth couple, the second one begins with the third. Frequently when there is a long line, they begin this figure in different places. The figure is ended when the first couple have arrived at their original place.

The music for the Spanish dance is the same as that for the common waltz.

THE VALSE À DEUX TEMPS.

This valse made its first appearance at the Court of Vienna, and was-danced in Paris at the Opera halls. In the carnival of 1832 it was danced by the corps de ballet , when it met with a very indifferent reception. Six months after this, at Baden-Baden, it was danced by all the fashionable company there assembled, 72 and was very favourably received. At the close of the season, when the members of the assemblies, which consisted of the élite of Europe, returned to their respective capitals, La Valse à deux temps was introduced at the soirées in Berlin, St. Petersburg, and London; but it is only within the last few years that it has become so popular as to take precedence of all other waltzes. As it unfortunately happens in fashionable dances there are many individuals who launch into them without taking the pains to learn even the first step, it is for the benefit of those too enterprising valsers that the following description is offered.

Library of Congress

DESCRIPTION OF THE VALSE A DEUX TEMPS.

The Valse à deux temps occupies three intervals like the other waltz; only they 73 are otherwise divided. The first consists of a sliding step, the second is marked by a chassé which always includes two intervals in one. (A chassé is performed by bringing one foot near the other, which is then moved forward, backward, right, left, or round.)

The gentleman begins by sliding to the left with his left foot, then performing a chassé towards the left with his right foot without turning at all during these two first times. He then slides his right foot backwards, turning half round; after which he places his left foot behind to make a little chassé forward, turning them round for the second interval. He should finish with his right foot a little forward, and begin again with his left.

The lady waltzes after the same manner with this exception, that the first 74 time she slides to the right with her right foot, and makes the chassé also on the right. She then continues the same as the gentleman, but à contre pied, that is, she slides with her right foot back. wards, when the gentleman slides with his left foot to the left; and when the gentleman slides with his right foot backwards, she slides with her left foot to the left.

One of the first principles of this waltz is never to jump, but only to slide. The steps must be made rather wide, and the knees kept slightly bent.

Library of Congress

Many gentlemen, who may be designated les étoiles de la valse dance the valse à deux temps à rebours , or contrary way; the effect is very pretty, though, at the same time, its execution is very difficult. The rules for it are the same as already described, but danced à contre pied , that is to say, the left foot is slid backwards during the first time and the right sideways during the second time for the gentleman.

SCOTCH REEL.

The Scotch Reel is a true national dance, and used to be performed by the nobility before Her Majesty at her state balls. This is certainly the most lively and characteristic dance known. The music is generally played by a piper, as at Her Majesty's balls, and is played very fast. When a band is provided instead of the piper, one-half play while the other wait their turn as the Scotch are indefatigable when dancing the reel; they seem almost intoxicated with it—they snap their fingers—throw their arms and feet in the air—screach out— 76 and make such quick and difficult steps that the eyes have trouble to follow them. The figure is danced by two ladies and two gentlemen forming a line of four, the ladies in the centre. They begin with a chain in passing in and out of each other, until the two gentlemen return to their places, the ladies finish facing the other gentlemen; then they set (or balancé ) before each other, the gentlemen exhibiting all their skill, the ladies dancing as quietly as possible; after eight bars of this set they begin again the chain and set, and this they do as long as they can—in fact they never seem 'tired, and seem to acquire fresh strength each time they come to the balancé .

REEL OF TULLOCK.

This is also a Reel, called the Reel of of Tullock, which is danced by hooking arms, turning to the right and left and changing partners, sometimes the two ladies come together in the centre, and sometimes the gentlemen.

LA BOULANGÈRE.

La Boulangère is a French dance of great antiquity; in the present day it usually forms the concluding dance of a ball, in the same way that Sir Roger de Coverley does in this country.

The gentlemen and their partners place themselves in a circle, and join hands, the gentlemen facing inwards, and the ladies outwards of the circle.

They dance one round still keeping hands, and when they come back to their places, the leading couple begin the figure.

The gentleman with his right hand takes his partner's right hand, turns once round with her, and then leaves her. After which, with his left hand he takes the left hand of the lady next in rotation, turns once round in like manner with her, and then returns to his partner, to whom he gives his right hand as before, then his left to the lady standing next in the circle, and so on to the end, always alternately dancing with his partner, who in the meantime when he leaves her, is to continue to turn by herself inside the circle, and keeping as far as she can from him. When this couple arrive at their own place again, the whole number join hands as before, turn one round, and 79 the next couple to the right dance the same figure.

When the party is very large, two couples may begin at the same time, one at the top and the other at the bottom of the room.

After which the ladies dance the same figure.

LE CARILLON DE DUNKERQUE.

Library of Congress

Le Carillon do Dunkerque, like the Boulangère, is a French dance of the olden time, and is the merriest and the noisiest of all country dances.

The gentlemen select their partners, and place themselves as for the Quadrille.

It is of no consequence if the number 80 of couples is not equal, the mere that dance the merrier it is.

The music plays the first eight bars, after which each gentleman takes the place of the gentleman to his right, the ladies meanwhile retaining their places.

All set anti turn with their new partners, the gentlemen finishing with their faces towards the ladies, and their backs to the centre of the Quadrille.

Then all the ladies and gentlemen clap their hands three times, and then stamp on the floor three times, and finish by turning round with their new partners. This figure is again begun and repeated until the gentlemen meet with their original partners, after which the ladies perform the figure in the same manner with the gentlemen.

“POP GOES THE WEASEL.”

“Pop goes the Weasel” is an old and a very animated English dance that has lately been revived among the higher classes of society. It is performed in the same manner as the Country dance, the ladies and gentlemen being placed in lines opposite to each other.

The couple at the top begin the figure, they run forward within the line and back again, each occupying four bars of the music, and then outside the line, and back again during the same interval. After which they form a round of three with one of the couple next to them on the line and turn once round to the right and once to the left, at the end of which making the one they have chosen pass quickly under their arms to his place, all singing

“Pop goes the Weasel,” they 82 then turn quickly to the other line and repeat the same figure with the partner of the last selected.

After this they have to run forward and backward inside and outside the line and repeat the figure with the next couple on the right and left. When they have passed three or four couples, the lady and gentleman at the top begin, and repeat the same figure, and so on in turn for all those who remain.

It is understood that after having passed the third or fourth couple, it is not necessary to go to the top in order to pass to the outside of the line, this is done By breaking through at that part where they may happen to be.

THE VARSOVIANA.

This dance, like the Waltz, is performed by two persons, the gentleman holding 83 the lady by the right arm. There are two different steps.

The first occupies two bars of the music. It is composed of one step of the Polka for the first bar; and for the second the foot is slidden to the side, the toe pointed and kept in that position during the remainder of it. This is to be repeated eight times, each time turning half round.

The second step occupies four bars, the first and second bars of which are employed while the first step of the Polka Mazurka (see page 41) is danced, twice to the side; the third bar, while one step of the Polka is danced, turning half round: and the fourth bar while the foot is slidden to the side, keeping the toe pointed during the remainder of the bar.

This second step is to be repeated four times.

Library of Congress

N.B. There is also an additional step, which may be danced instead of the second step, or partly with it,—that is to say—twice of the one and eight of the other,; but this is left to the option of the dancers.

It is danced thus:—One Polka stop, which takes one bar, observing to slide the first step instead of jumping, and turning like the Waltz. This is to be repeated sixteen times, when part of the second step is not used.

LONG LIVE THE QUEEN.

Long live the Queen is a Country dance and like all other dances of the same kind, may be executed by an unlimited number of persons, the gentlemen forming a line on one side of the room, and the ladies facing them.

To the time of “God save the Queen” the two gentlemen and their partners at the top of the line begin by giving their right hands across and marching slowly once round, finishing with a low bow to each ether. They then present their left to each other and march to the left finishing in the same manner with a low bow. It is quite optional during the “God save the Queen” to form chorus for those who wish to sing.)

To a quick tune, which then follows, the two couples Galop down the room, and back again, and Waltz round each other until the slow movement and music begin again.

N.B. When the column is a long one it is better to begin the figure at different places; leaving always one or two couples between.

REMARKS ON THE INTRODUCTIONS IN PRIVATE AND PUBLIC BALL ROOMS.

It is very much to be regretted that the custom of the English Ball Room should limit the enjoyment of the dance by not allowing the gentleman to offer himself as cavalier to any lady to whom he has not previously passed through the ceremony of introduction. In Paris and on the Continent generally where this severe restriction does not exist, it is assumed in private parties (and very properly so) that the hostess has the tact to assemble those only of her friends together, who are on an equal footing in society, and therefore in politeness to her, any such introductions are dispersed with. And in public as well as private balls the ease and agreeableness of the party would be much enhanced if gentlemen 87 could, without fear of the imputation of rudeness, exercise their freedom in the choice of partners, and equally so, a lady would find it much more flattering to be the direct object of a gentleman's preference for the dance, than as is usually the case, to be presented to him by others.

THE CALEDONIANS.

This Quadrille is danced by only four couples, placed in a square.

FIRST FIGURE.

The first couple, and the couple opposite, give right hands across in turning half round, then left hands across, and back to places.

Balancé to partner, and turn.

Ladies chaine.

Half promenade.

Half right and left.

The same for the side couples.

88

SECOND FIGURE.

Library of Congress

The leading gentleman advances and retires twice.

All balancé at corners, each gentleman takes the hand of the lady with whom he has danced the balancé, and places his right arm round her in the position to galop, and this once round. The four ladies have now changed their partners and this figure, therefore, must be repeated until each one comes to her original place again.

THIRD FIGURE.

The first gentleman and the opposite lady advance and retire, advance again and turn with both hands, then retire to their places. The leading lady and her partner cross over hand in hand, and the opposite couple also cross over, but separately, and passing on the outer side. 89 They then all set and turn by the hands at the corners, and then all join hands in a round, advance and retire. All turn partners by the hand.

The figure repeated by the others in turn,

FOURTH FIGURE.

The leading couple advances and stops.

The opposite couple advances and stops.

Both couples turn their partners by the hands, and back to their places.

The four ladies change places with each other towards the right.

The four gentlemen change places with each other towards the left.

Again the ladies and gentlemen change their places.

All galop half round to their places and turn with their partner.

Library of Congress

The same figure for the rest.

90

FIFTH FIGURE.

The leading couple galop once round within the square .

The four ladies advance, raise their right hands, and retire with a curtsey.

The four gentlemen advance, raise their right hands, and retire to places.

All balancé with partners, and turn.

Grand chain half round.

Half promenade to places, and turn partners.

Chassé croisé all.

The same figure for the others.

All dance one round of the galop to finish.

REMARKS AGAINST A NEW BAD STYLE OF DANCING THE QUADRILLE.

N.B.—In the Caledonian, no less than in all other Quadrilles, I cannot too strongly impress upon the minds of my pupils that they should be on their guard against a certain modern, and very bad style, which unfortunately now prevails in some society. I allude to that of the gentleman turning his partner as he would a teetotum.

LE QUADRILLE DES DAMES. ( Translated by M. COULON 1861. )

Library of Congress

Le Quadrille des Dames has lately been introduced in Paris by the Society of Professors of Dancing.

This Quadrille is danced by four couples placed in a square; the top couple is called No. 1: the couple opposite No. 2; the one on the right, No. 3; and the one on the left, No. 4.

FIRST FIGURE.

Half right and left.

The four ladies balancé or forward and backward to each corner.

Half right and left

The four ladies balancé, or forward and backward at each corner.

Advance, the four ladies, and curtsey to each other. Back to places.

Ditto, without the curtsey for the side couples.

SECOND FIGURE.

The gentleman No. 1 turns the lady No. 2 with the right hand

The gentleman No. 1 turns the lady No. 3 with the left hand.

The gentleman No. 1 turns the lady No. 4 with the right hand.

The gentleman No. 1 turns his partner with the left hand.

LA BADENOWITCH. OR, DANISH WALTZ.

( Explanation by M. Coulon . )

La Badenowitch, which in London is also called the Danish Waltz, is an old German dance, lately revived at BadenBaden and in Paris by M. Perin, and is a kind of Cotillon. It is danced by an unlimited number of couples, provided only that they are of an even number, of 4, 8, 12, 16, or more. After the gentlemen have selected their partners, they place themselves to form a square as for a Quadrille, holding their ladies as in the Waltz.

FIRST FIGURE.

The four couples at the corners advance with four assemblés , well accentuated,— 113 the gentlemen with the left foot, the ladies with the right, and they retire to places with the eight steps of the Galop. Ditto forward and backward.

The four couples waltz sixteen bars, following each other, aria finish at their places.

The whole of this figure is repeated by the next four couples on the right of those who have been dancing; and so on for all the others.

SECOND FIGURE.

Library of Congress

The four couples at the corners advance with four assemblés .

Change corners with eight steps of Galop, but first turning hall round in the centre of the room. Ditto to places.

THE NORWEGIAN COUNTRY DANCE.***

Library of Congress

Music to be had of Messrs Hopwood & Crew.

DESCRIPTION OF THE FIGURES, BY M. COULON.

The Norwegian is a Country Dance: it is Danced by an unlimited number of persons. As in Sir Roger de Coverly, the gentlemen face the ladies, forming two lines.

First Figure .—The first gentleman at the top of the line gives his left hand to his partner (the lady opposite to him), who gives him her right hand; they galop 129 down the centre of the lines, and they swing each other round by the right arm.

Second Figure .—The leading couple separate, and the gentleman goes to the last lady at the end of the line, whilst his partner goes to the last gentleman, and they each swing once round with them by the left arm; the leading couple meet again, and swing each other round by the right arm; then the gentleman goes to the next, gentleman, whilst his lady goes to the next lady, and they swing once round by the left arm. (This is to be repeated alternately with each lady and gentleman till they arrive at the top again.)

Third Figure .—The gentleman gives his left hand, and the lady her right, to each other; the two lines of ladies and gentlemen kneel down and clap their hands (one, two, three), in time with the music; whilst the leading couple go 130 round them, holding hands over their heads (the gentleman outside, and the lady inside.)

Fourth Figure .—When they arrive at the top of the lines, they give both hands to each other, and the two lines of ladies and gentlemen advance, join hands, and keep jumping, whilst the leading couple execute La Poussette between each couple.

The whole of these four Figures are to be repeated in turn by each couple.

N.B.—The Fourth Figure may be danced also by the two lines of ladies and gentlemen forming a Bower in holding each other's hands up, and the leading couple passing under.

23. Pirouette on both feet finishing on the left foot. Coupé backward, and place the left foot behind—four bars.

25. Coupé forwards, Coupé backwards—two bars.

26. Give both hands to each other. Pas de Bourré before and behind. Coupé backwards and place the left foot behind for the gentleman, and the right foot before for the lady—two bars.

Repeat the figures 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 to conclude.

136

N. B.—There are five different pas de Menuet (or minuet steps). One to the right, two to the left, one forward; and one forward and turn round: all pas de menuet begin with the right foot, and occupy two bars; they are composed of one demi-coupé which occupies one bar, and one pas de bourré , which occupies the other bar.

M. COULON'S REMARKS WRITTEN EXPRESSLY AS A MEMENTO FOR THE BENEFIT OF HIS PUPILS.

The first rule in Dancing is to turn the feet out. But to be more exact I will say, that the first rule in Dancing relates to the position of the knees, for where these are well turned outwards, the feet will naturally, and of a consequence, assume a right direction. This rule cannot be too much enforced, for it is the one regarding which the most frequent failures occur among pupils, who, while they give all their attention to the placing of their feet, neglect that of the knees, and, consequently, render themselves liable to a common and a most injurious result, whereby the ankles become prominent and unsightly, It may be remarked, that when the knees are bent, the toes should always be on a line with them.

The second important rule to be observed in Dancing is this: to make use of the knees as well as of the feet, and to dance on and with the toes. This gives spring and prevents stiffness.

POSITION OF THE BODY.

- I. Rest more on your toes than on your heels.
- II. Let the waist be kept in.
- III. Let the shoulders be in, down , and slightly forward .
- IV. In holding the dress let the arms be rounded, and act entirely free from the shoulders; the elbows being turned outwards.
- V. Let the head be held rather backward, without stiffness, and not allowing the chin to project.

REMARKS ON THE IMPORTANCE OF PRACTICE.

It must not be forgotten that it is only practice which makes perfect, and that pupils who wish to improve must devote a certain portion of their time each day, between the lessons, and during the holidays, for the repetition of that which they have learnt with their master. If they wish to acquire grace and ease in their deportment, I should recommend the practice of the Pole exercises for a period of ten minutes together, and the Dancing exercises during another ten minutes. By the latter, I mean changing of feet (changement de pieds), first slow , afterwards quick . The jetés and the bending and rising , and finishing with a change of feet .

These exercises may be compared to for the pianoforte called scales , 140 which bring improvement in proportion to the care and time devoted to them.

In concluding my remarks, I cannot do better than quote my father's favourite maxim, “ Donnez-vous leç toute la journé ,” which might be translated thus: “ Be teaching yourselves all the day long ;” and by this he meant that these same rules which I am now giving relative to your Dancing and your deportment, should never be This maxim is indeed worthy to be plied not only to Dancing and deportment, but to all the other studies and actions of life, It was thus my revered father was accustomed to employ it to his pupils, his friends, and his relatives, saying to them, “In all you do, or are going to do—

“ Donnez-Vous Leçon .

List of Exercises , with the Pole and without it, with the Dumb Bells , &c.

N.B.—The exercises that are not fully explained, will only be useful to those who have already learnt them with me. Music must be played during the practice of the following exercises (or movement.)

The time should be two or three, slow, moderate or quick, in accordance with the movement practised by the pupil.

EXERCISES WITH THE POLE.

Library of Congress

The Pole is to be held both hands.

First Movement .—Point the right toe behind, pass the left arm over the head, while you count three. Pass the right arm from behind over the head, also while you count three. The head must be held rather back, and the face turned towards the shoulder, first on one side, then on the other, in such a manner that 142 the eyes can follow the hand as it passes above and below the head. This is to be repeated, reversing the foot, and the direction of the head.

Second Movement .—The same movement to be done quickly while you two.

Third Movement .—A long step toward with the right foot, pass the pole over the head behind, keeping the arms straight, and the head backward and all this while you count one . Bring the pole to the front again, bend the knee forward, keeping the leg that is behind quite straight, and the same foot flat on the ground, and this while you count two ; then bring the feet together and count three . The same exercise with the other foot forward.

Fourth Movement .—The arms extended over the head, bend the elbows quickly, 143 and bring the Pole forward to the chest. Extend the arms again in the former position. This is to be repeated several times.

Fifth Movement .—Ditto in passing the pole behind the head.

Sixth Movement .—With the pole over the head, point the right toe sideways, and bend the body to the right, keeping the arms straight over the head. The same to be repeated, bonding towards the other side.

Seventh Movement .—With the pole on the ground, take a long step forward with the right foot; bend the body forward, and take up the pole to bring it to the knee, and raise the body in the time of one. Place the feet together, and bring the pole to the chest in the time of two , and raise the pole over the head in the time of three . Replace the pole on the floor, but do so in the same manner, 144 marking the three points—the chest, the knee, and the ground.

Eighth Movement .—The same movement continued several times without resting the pole on the ground.

Ninth Movement .—With the pole on ground, place the heels together, and the arms straight over the head; and in this posture stoop, without bending the knees, take up the pole and raise it over the head, at the same time bending the body and the head backward. Replace the pole on the ground without bending the knees, and repeat this movement without it.

Tenth Movement .—Hold the pole with both hands, and put one knee on the ground. Raise the right arm behind the head and look at the right hand, the left arm being down. Then pass the pole over the head in bending the body towards the left, and bring the pole, while 145 the body is bent forward, as near as possible to the ground, and when rising bring the pole before you until the left arm is in the same position as the right was in the beginning of the movement.

Repeat the same with the left arm.

EXERCISES WITH TWO POLES.

First Movement .—Two poles are held by two pupils facing each other, the extreme end of each pole in the right and left hand of each pupil; and, in this position, with the right foot forward, they both, with the right hand, push backwards the left arm of the other, and then, in like manner, with the left hand, they push the right arms backwards.

Second Movement .—In the same position they push alternately both arms of each other backwards.

Library of Congress

Third Movement .—Two pupils, holding two poles, and facing each other, waltz together, counting 1,2,3.

Fourth Movement .—In the same position bring the hands over the head and touch the hands without bending the arms: this is to be done slowly. Bring the arms down sharply.

Fifth Movement .—The same as above, but back to back and as far as possible from each other, and touching the backs of the hands.

EXERCISES OF THE ARMS.

First Movement .—Take hold of the waist with both hands, bend the knees, and rise without moving the body.

Second Movement .—The arms extended forward, one foot off the ground forward, bend, and rise with the other knee, balancing yourself forward.

147

Third Movement .—Hold the waist with both hands, take a long step in advances bending the knee forward, and keep the knee that is behind quite straight, pressing the little toe on the ground. The body is to be kept quite erect, not bent forward.

Fourth Movement .—Place the heels together, extend the arms forward; and touch the palms of the hands; then swing the arms behind, and touch the backs of the hands, being careful not to turn them.

Fifth Movement .—Swing one arm round, keeping it near the body, first slowly, then quickly. Repeat with the other arm.

Sixth Movement .—The same repeated, with both arms together.

Library of Congress

Seventh Movement .—Put the two hands on the hips, bend the knees as low as possible, and jump forward like a frog.

Eight Movement .—Walk slowly round 148 the room with both arms extended over the head, rest after eight bars, then face the centre of the room, make a long step forward with the right foot, stoop down and touch this foot with both hands Rise, place the right foot behind the left in raising the arms over the head. Repeat the same movement with the left foot, and walk again round the room.

Ninth Movement .—March slowly round the room forming two lines, right and left. When meeting at the top of the room, the gentleman presents his right hand to the lady who gives her left hand to him with a little bend (or curtsy) and they walk down the room together, separate, and walk again right and left. After a few rounds the lady in the like manner presents her right hand to the gentleman.

Tenth Movement .—March in the same way, only quickly.

149

Eleventh Movement .—Form two lines facing each other, one line advances and makes a curtsy to the other line, which answers to it. Turn half round to return to the first place as if in the act of quitting the room, and make another curtsy. The same for the other line.

EXERCISES WITH THE DUMB-BELLS.

First Exercise .—With the dumb-bells on the ground, take a long step forward with the right foot, and lift one dumb-bell with the left hand; pass it in a circle before the head and behind, replacing it on the ground. The body must follow the movement of the arms without stiffness. The same with the other foot.

Second Exercise .—The same movement with the two dumb-bells.

150

Library of Congress

Third Exercise .—The dumb-bells in the hands the heels together. Raise one dumb-bell to the shoulder, over the head, and down again, counting The same with the other dumb-bell.

Fourth Exercise .—The same movement with the two dumb-bells.

Fifth Exercise .—Swing the dumb-bells forwards and backwards, making them touch, and keeping the arms straight.

Sixth Exercise .—The dumb-bells in the hands. Take a long step forward, bring the dumb-bells to the chest, extend the arms forward, swing them behind, and then return the dumb-bells to their former position near the body. Repeat this movement with the other foot forward.

Seventh Exercise .—Swing one dumb-bell round and near the body.

Eighth Exercise .—The same movement with both dumb-bells together

151

Ninth Exercise .—Place the two dumb-bells between the feet. Take one in each hand, and swing the two above the head (keeping the hands together), and then down between the feet, and so on.

EXERCISES WITH TWO ELASTICS FIXED TO THE WALL.

First Exercise .—Take a long step forward, extend one arm forward carrying it round backward. Do this first with one arm and then with the other, and the same in changing feet.

Second Exercise .—To be repeated with both hands at once.

Third Exercise .—Hold the elastics with both hands, lie on your back, raise yourself up, and return several times.

WALKING, RUNNING, AND JUMPING EXERCISES.

First Exercise .—Walk, raising the knee, quicken the pace, and finish by running.

Second Exercise .—Place the hands on the two hips, slide the right foot forward and hop twice, counting one, two, three; then the left foot the same, and so on round the room.

Third Exercise .—Place eight poles on the floor, four by four. Each pupil, one after the other, raises one foot behind and with the other slowly jumps over each pole, bending the knee after each jump. This must be continued along one side of the room, and in returning on the other the foot must be changed.

Fourth Exercise .—Each pupil jumps over each pole with a jeté.

Fifth Exercise .— Run and jump over one pole, remembering to bend the knees afterwards.

Sixth Exercise .—Run and jump over two poles in the same manner.

CONCLUSION.

All these exercises are good, and perfectly free from any unbecoming or evil tendency; on the contrary, they are calculated to improve the figure, to develop the chest, to increase muscular strength, and to benefit the health. My youngest pupils may safely practise them without any hurtful result.
